DETROIT (AP) — With some warehouses and loading docks jammed, layoffs inched up in the steel industry today as new shootings heightened tension in an eight-state strike by dissident truckers.

The drivers, independents covered by the Teamsters Union contract with the industry, have forced some production cutbacks by refusing to deliver steel, which has piled up in warehouses and loading points. "We've got steel coming out of our ears," said a spokesman for Republic Steel at Cleveland, Ohio, where 500 workers were idled today and hundreds more were working short shifts. Armco Steel Corp. said it would lay off 300 workers at its Ambridge, Pa., facility because of production cutbacks forced by the backlog of undelivered steel.

Rusk Plan Would Strengthen
Western Boycott of Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk proposed today a four-point program for tightening the Western hemispheric quarantine of Communist Cuba, including an appeal to non-Communist countries to curb trade with Havana. "The Organization of American States must maintain measures that isolate Cuba from the society of free men" until Premier Fidel Castro quits promoting "subversion and terrorism in the other countries of the hemisphere" and cuts his military ties with Moscow, Rusk said.

Rusk presented the U.S. proposals as the foreign ministers of the 21-nation OAS went into the second day of a three-day special conference on stemming the Castro threat.

Infiltration Denounced

Guerrilla-plagued Venezuela called the meeting, accusing Cuba of aggression for its exports of insurgency to other Latin American lands. Other hemisphere ministers have joined in denouncing the Red infiltrations.

It remained to be seen what specific steps the Latin American leaders could agree on beyond the containment programs already voted by the OAS in past years. None is advocating force against Cuba.

Rusk advocated "reasonable steps tailored to the dimensions of the immediate threat" which he said should be neither exaggerated nor ignored. He proposed:

'Passionate Voices' Always Heard

War Worth Price,
Johnson Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's assertion that the fight to save South Vietnam from communism is worth the price despite "passionate voices" of protest is challenged by policy critics. Johnson told the heads of about 300 fraternal organizations Friday that the big question is whether the war is worth the price. "I say it is," he declared.

Always True
"In every war we have fought there have been passionate voices crying that the engagement was unwise, that what we might accomplish was not worth the price we would have to pay," he said.

This was true, he said, when the Axis powers nibbled at Europe in the 1930s, when communism threatened Greece and Turkey in 1947, when the Reds blockaded Berlin in 1948, when South Korea was invalid in 1950 and in the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

"These voices are heard now," he said, "as Communist power threatens the life of South Vietnam."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, one of the dissenters against whom Johnson's shafts appeared aimed said he wishes the South Vietnamese "shared the President's estimate of the importance of the war in their country."

Stay Behind
"Then we wouldn't have to do the fighting for them, while they stay behind the lines and engage in pacification efforts among their own people," Church said.

Fighting at Border

41 Marines Dead in
11-Day Red Barrage

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots reported touching off explosions and fires in North Vietnamese gun positions Friday as U.S. Marine casualties grew to 41 dead and 541 wounded for 11 days of heavy blasting back and forth across the border.

Communist barrages killed six Americans and wounded 72 near the Marine outpost of Con Thien Friday in what appears to have become a contest across South Vietnam's northern frontier to see who can inflict the most casualties.

Another possibility was that the Reds hoped to clear the way for a thrust by ground troops.

Twin-engine B57 medium bombers and supersonic F4 Phantom fighter-bombers joined eight-engine B52s in dumping tons of bombs on the hidden red gun positions.

DMZ Raids
In 71 raids on the demilitarized zone area since mid-August, the B52s have dropped perhaps more than 10 million pounds of explosives. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has called the concentration of conventional firepower in the area "the heaviest in the history of warfare."

Offshore U.S. Navy destroyers also have contributed to efforts to take the Communist pressure off the Marines guarding the northern frontier.

The B57 and F4 pilots reported six secondary explosions and five fires even before the high-altitude B52s started their saturation bombing raids.

Ground Fighting
In a delayed report, the U.S. Command also disclosed that another 16 Marines were killed and 33 wounded in fierce ground fighting that raged for six hours Thursday a half-mile southeast of Con Thien. The Marines reported killing 22 Communist troops.

In Operation Kingfisher, Marines of the 4th Regiment assaulted an estimated Communist reinforced company—perhaps 150 men.

Military officers said the Marines moved to within 20 yards of the Communists' position but were stopped by heavy small arms fire and booby-trapped hedgerows. As darkness began to fall, the enemy broke contact.

Mrs. Johnson Hears
Lecture on Farming

SPRING GREEN — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson heard her husband's agriculture secretary lecture about failures in federal farm policies on the porch steps of an Iowa County dairy farm Friday.

Joseph Johnson, the 34-year-old dairyman selected to play host to visiting Washington dignitaries, turned teacher on the familiar front steps of his 11-room homestead — recently renovated with the help of a federal loan — and told Orville Freeman that milk price supports are too low.

Johnson, a member of the National Farmers Organization (NFO) and the Farm Bureau, had been selected to act as host to the plenipotentiary of guests because of his participation in federal programs which Freeman says have given new direction to federal concerns about the plight of the declining farm industry.

The First Lady was on the final leg of a three-day swing through America's heartland aimed at examining federally-aided farm and cultural programs in "Crossroads, USA."

Accompanied by Freeman and his wife and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, her mission has been interpreted as the first White House response to the booming Republican presidential politics of the coming campaign years.

Along for the state trip was Carrie Lee Nelson, wife of Sen. Gaylord Nelson, (D-Wis.), who also comes up for re-election in 1968.

Mrs. Johnson's presence in Wisconsin, the second of the crucial primary states, lends weight to the fact that the trip is a move by the Democratic administration to lessen the attention given the Republican Party for the presidential nomination. The trip was described by Freeman as an indication of the concern of the President and Mrs. Johnson for the people of rural America.

Farmer Johnson described to the First Lady and Freeman the efforts he and his wife, Donna, have made in building a successful 398-acre dairy farm from a part-time operation which he handled when daily work as a milk truck driver ended five years ago.

Cost Squeeze
Johnson told Freeman that he "couldn't recommend" farming to young people today because of the cost-price squeeze in agriculture.

Johnson said that he dumped over a ton of milk on each of three days in the holding action staged earlier this year in an attempt to drive farm earnings upward.

Johnson plugged for a full parity price of $6 a hundredweight for milk, far above the existing $4.29 paid today.

Freeman, looking over the stocky farmer's shoulder, as they met the press on the front porch, said that he agreed with farm complaints over the milk market.

His department twice last year raised milk support prices, he pointed out.

Action Needed
Asked later about those increases, Johnson said that the moves were satisfactory at the time, but that greater action is needed now as farm prices are lower than last year.

Freeman said that worldwide bumper crops have produced flooded markets in all fields which are driving produce prices down. Dairy prices are inadequate, he stressed, and farmers are the lowest paid laborers in the nation.

Mrs. Johnson toured a cultural center of southwestern Wisconsin on her visit and, at the farm, sipped fresh milk from a bulk cooler and munched cookies made by Johnson's three daughters shortly after Freeman demonstrated his manual effort of milking a very cooperative cow.

Gifts To Children
Johnson has five children and the First Lady brought presents to them from the White House. To the family she presented an autographed copy of a book on the President's ranch lands in Texas inscribed, "From Two Lovers of the Land."

This morning Mrs. Johnson addressed youth day at the World Food Exposition in Madison.

Planes, Arms
Promised for
'68 Delivery

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union promised today to send warplanes, anti-aircraft guns and missiles, artillery and other weapons to North Vietnam in 1968.

The promise was contained in aid agreements signed with a North Vietnamese delegation, an announcement said. The agreements covered gifts to the Hanoi government, loans and trade, said a communique made public by the Soviet News agency Tass.

In addition to weapons, North Vietnam will receive "equipment, vehicles, oil products and other goods necessary for the further raising of the republic's defensive capacity and for its economic development," Tass said.

The agreements followed talks here since Aug. 14. The North Vietnamese delegation led by Deputy Premier Le Thanh Nghi met with the Soviet Communist Party General Secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

The volume of aid promised, either in monetary terms or amounts of equipment, was not disclosed.

U.S. estimates are that Soviet aid to Vietnamese Communists, reportedly running about $555 million in 1965, is about $1 billion this year. There have been hints it would be greater in 1968.

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP) — The Vietnam war could be a topic at the Big Four foreign ministers meeting next week, the Soviet Union's Andrei A. Gromyko said today. But he indicated someone else would have to bring it up.

Gromyko said the Middle East problem "presumably will be discussed" at Secretary-General U Thant's "discussion dinner" Tuesday in Thant's 38th-floor office at the United Nations.

Invitations to the parley have also been accepted by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, British Foreign Secretary George Brown and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. Their chief U.N. delegates will also attend.

Thant, in his diplomatic efforts to end the war in Vietnam, has said he is acting in his personal capacity. Vietnam was not introduced as a topic for the current General Assembly. But it is expected to be a prime topic

Hippies Get Temperance Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who may not have won any votes, has made the scene in hippieville and given scores of hippies a temperance lecture.

The undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination came away with a necklace of "love beads" around his neck Friday and a flower from a hippie admirer.

It was a bizarre contrast, Romney in his neat blue suit and starched collar, his wife Le-nore at his side, completely surrounded by some 200 to 300 hippies with long hair, beards, tattered garb and bare feet.

The visit to Golden Gate Park was an unscheduled stop in Romney's "nonpolitical" tour of American cities.

Romney had been visiting a church-run project called Huganberry's for Runaways, which tries to get runaway children drawn to this hippie haven back to their parents. Then one of the hippies suggested he visit the now-famed Mecca for hippies, the Haight-Ashbury area.

Romney and his wife squeezed into a pickup truck, a tall long-haired hippie at the wheel, and zipped down to the park, followed by a busload of newsmen, photographers and Romney staffers.

When this invasion appeared, hippies dining under the trees on corn-on-the-cob and greens, let out shouts of "End the war in Vietnam." "Down with the draft," "Get the CIA out,"

"Legalize pot (marijuana)." For a moment, it was too noisy for anyone to hear anyone.

Romney called out, "I have come here to hear what you have to say."

A Negro standing near Romney gave a little speech which concluded, "I want to be treated as a man."

"You mean," said Romney, "you want others to esteem you as you esteem yourself."

"That's right," said the man. In the hubbub, the slender Mrs. Romney told the hippies, "I am here to listen to you. I want to know how you feel about society."

Someone shouted from the crowd, "We're the children of darkness."

Romney, giving the hippies a lecture on Americanism, said that "America provided a greater opportunity for self-expression than any country on earth."

Romney tried to tell the crowd, "We're all children of a common creator."

But he was interrupted by a cry, "Then let's live that way." Romney was asked if he would support a bill to legalize marijuana.

"I'll give it to you straight out," said Romney, a Mormon who neither smokes or drinks. "I think we'd all be better off if we let tobacco alone, and drugs alone and all forms of alcohol."

Anticelibacy Dialogue Resuming After Refusal

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The wide-open discussion broke off temporarily when Pope Paul VI spoke a firm "no" to the idea. But now, a few weeks later, the conversation is rising again.

That's how the recent cycle of reaction has gone concerning calls for change in the Roman Catholic prohibition of marriage for priests in the Western world.

After a lull, following the Pope's midsummer encyclical reaffirming the rule of priestly celibacy, the questioning of it has resumed once more.

"The subject will not die down," says the Rev. John A. O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame. He says freedom for priests to marry is, in Victor Hugo's phrase, an unstoppable idea whose "time has come."

Intensify Feelings

"Instead of removing celibacy from discussion, the attempt to do so has had the opposite effect," Father O'Brien told a symposium on the matter at Notre Dame early this month.

It was the first national gathering of priests dealing specifically with the topic, and the prevailing view expressed was that western-rite priests should have the option of marrying, or staying single, as they choose.

Urging that "free choice for free men" be substituted for "the present compulsory celibacy," statement by leaders of the sponsoring organization, the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, said:

Apostles Married

"Christ never made permanent bachelorhood a necessary condition for the priesthood. Neither did the apostles, almost all of whom were married. Indeed in the early church not only priests, but bishops were generally married."

The new synod of bishops, convening Sept. 29 in Rome, was asked to re-examine the issue. "They must not let themselves be tied up by previous decisions of the Pope," the statement said. "Let them realize the church universal is their responsibility, every bit as much as it is the Pope's."

Only about two months before, in the face of swelling debate about the ban on marriage for priests, Pope Paul had issued his encyclical saying the Church "cannot weaken her faithful observance" of the celibacy tradition.

"Unthinkable" Event

"It is unthinkable that for centuries she has followed a path which, instead of favoring spiritual richness of individual souls and of the people of God, has in some way compromised it," he said.

He said doubts being raised about the rule were "troubling consciences and perplexing some priests" and causing "alarm among the faithful."

"There will be no peace on this point in the Catholic Church until celibacy is left to the voluntary decision of the individual as it originally was," said noted Swiss Catholic theologian, the Rev. Hans Kung.

The general ban in the Church's Western, or Latin rite, against priests marrying dates to the Lateran Council in 1139.

South Vietnamese Troops Improving

Westmoreland Admits Native Forces Not All He'd Like

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, says the South Vietnamese army is "not fully effective, the way I want it to be, but they're better than they were a year ago."

Criticism of the South Vietnamese army has mounted in recent weeks in view of the deepening American commitment of troops.

Westmoreland gave his views in an exclusive interview with an Associated Press newsmen who spent a day with him this week touring U.S. military installations.

Westmoreland said that among the major problems facing the South Vietnamese army are "corruption, their fear of night fighting and leadership weakness."

Heavy Casualties

Heavy casualties suffered by its officer corps have contributed to the leadership weakness in the South Vietnamese army, he asserted.

South Vietnamese headquarters does not give out specific military battle casualties for each individual battle as the U.S. Command does for American casualties. Instead, the South Vietnamese headquarters characterizes them as light, moderate or heavy. When specific casualty numbers are obtainable from field reports or other sources they are generally carried by the press. Each week, South Vietnamese Headquarters issues a summary giving the total number of dead, wounded and missing for the preceding seven-day period. These weekly summaries are carried along with the American weekly total casualty figures.

member who has called for more vigorous efforts to negotiate a peace, said in a separate interview Johnson failed to state the issue between him and his critics.

"We are in the war and the question is, what are the options open to us?" Case asked.

He said the President's remarks were not the answer to the question of what steps the United States can take to resolve the conflict.

A sharp Vietnam debate, with two Republicans criticizing the administration on the ground it has not brought about greater efforts by the South Vietnamese government in the war, developed in the Senate shortly after the President commented.

Stop Troops

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said the United States should refuse to "send one more soldier or one more Marine to fight and to die in South Vietnam until that government begins to stand up to its responsibilities."

And Case renewed his stand that the administration should get the South Vietnamese government to make improvements to rally the all-out support of its army and its people.

Case again proposed telling the South Vietnamese government the United States will withdraw if South Vietnam does not demonstrate it can mobilize.

Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., acting Democratic leader at the time, said he was sure the President would press upon the South Vietnamese government that it had to meet its responsibilities.

Brooke, who recently reaffirm" Westmoreland went on. Asked to what extent U.S. officers could be used to bridge this gap, Westmoreland replied: "As much as the traffic will bear. It will now bear more than it did a year ago."

It used to be, the general continued, that American officers working in leadership capacities with South Vietnamese units were resented by the government troops and officer corps.

"Now we have developed procedures that beat this resistance," Westmoreland said. "Now that I've got enough troops here to do the job, we're much closer with the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) than ever before. They're gaining increasing self-confidence."

Conservationists To Resume Battle

MARINETTE (AP)—The Conservation Commission is readying for a second battle with the state legislature after being defeated in the fight over reorganization of the commission under the Kellett bill.

This time the target is a joint resolution, which is intended to tie the commission's hands in the administration of Outdoor Recreation Act Program (ORAP) funds.

Commission Chairman James R. Smaby of La Crosse, who was unable to attend the commission's meeting Friday, told Vice Chairman Charles F. Smith of Wausau the resolution would destroy the continuity of operations contemplated by the basic statute establishing the commission.

firmly with some reservations, his support of Johnson's course, said: "If the President is correct when he says our reason for being there is to prevent the spread of communism by force and violence, this is certainly worth it. 'It better be worth it, with all the lives we've lost. It's hardly a time for second guessing as to whether it is worth it. This question now is a bit academic."

When the king of diamonds failed to drop, South drew the rest of the trumps. This left him with three clubs in each hand. East kept the king of diamonds and two clubs, and South was down when the club finesse failed.

Let Your Opponents Do Work

A trump opening lead is not a bad idea when the opponents have bid all four suits. Dummy will surely be short in one of the side suits, and the trump lead will then reduce dummy's ruffing power.

West's trump opening lead gave the defenders a chance. With any other lead South would make the slam pretty easily by ruffing two hearts in dummy.

South gave the defenders a further chance by mangling the play. He won the first trick with dummy's ten of spades, discard-

Your Problems

Adults Owe Parents Respect But Not Physical Presence

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has been offered an excellent promotion but it means we must leave this city where we both have family. Both sets of grandparents adore our children. When my parents heard of the promotion they were happy for him and offered their congratulations.

My husband's parents, however, have been trying desperately to get him to pass up the opportunity because "money isn't everything." They have pointed out that they will not live forever (an astute observation), and that we would be unspeakably selfish to move from this city and deprive them of the joy of seeing their grandchildren grow up.

I am certain others must have written to you about this problem. What did you tell them? — Bewildered

Dear B.: I told them money

isn't everything. There are other things that should be considered — independence, personal integrity, making sacrifices (such as leaving one's parents) in order to advance professionally or in business.

Children owe their parents respect, consideration and kindness. But they do not owe them their physical presence after they have reached adulthood. Call the van, and good luck to you.

sides studying, and I do mean everything. When she came home for Christmas vacation she told me she thought she was pregnant. Fortunately, she was not, but it was a horrible two weeks for both of us.

Because she did not flunk out she felt she should be allowed to return to college. So, after much haranguing, her father and I agreed. How can I be sure she has learned her lesson and will conduct herself in a respectable manner? I am awake nights worrying — Mother

Dear Mother: You might as well get some sleep, because staying up nights will not help you or her. By the time a girl goes off to college her pattern of behavior is set. You can do nothing now except hope to heaven the scare taught her something.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 19-year-old guy with an unusual problem. Two years ago I started to grow to love a wonderful girl. We are hoping, lope.

God willing, to be married in two or three years. The problem is that she is always sending me small gifts

I am putting myself through college and I can't afford to buy her anything. It makes me feel like less of a man to be on the receiving end most of the time.

When, out of need, I buy myself a new shirt I feel guilty. I think perhaps I should have spent the money on her. I have tried to explain, but she says she gets pleasure out of buying me things and I should not deprive her of it.

How can I get her to see that all I need is her love? — The Receiver

Dear Receiver: The girl is obviously a generous sort, and since her gifts are gifts of love and not designed to obligate you, accept them graciously. In return, write her a poem or a warm letter of thanks. Or send her a trinket which costs a dime but has special significance. An imaginative gift can be far more impressive than an expensive one.

Gromyko Calls Vietnam Likely Topic for U.N.

throughout the general policy debate.

Gromyko was asked if he would object to discussing Vietnam. His reply was simply: any side could raise any issues it pleased at the dinner.

Should Vietnam come up, Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg could go into the question they each referred to before the General Assembly the last two days: if the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam would negotiate?

On Thursday, Goldberg noted that North Vietnam had said that if the bombing stopped, talks "could" begin not that they "would" begin.

On Friday Gromyko referred to a North Vietnamese statement to begin negotiations on a settlement of the Vietnam problem after the cessation of the United States of the bombing and other aggressive acts against it.

The Soviet foreign minister said the American reply to this statement was "barbarous bombings" in the North and a troop buildup in the South. North Vietnam's standard position has been that the United States is the aggressor and must take all its troops out of South Vietnam.

Gromyko told the assembly that "peace may be brought about in Vietnam solely as a result of the withdrawal of the aggressors."

Goldberg's address was conciliatory in tone. He asked "those governments which support Hanoi's cause" how they would use their influence to move the war to a solution if the United States did stop the bombing.

Gromyko retorted by dismissing Goldberg's speech as containing "nothing new" and complained that every U.S. "peace initiative" on Vietnam "turns out to be a soap bubble" for public consumption.

Diplomats who heard Gromyko's speech told newsmen that the Russian himself said "nothing new." Foreign Secretary Brown and Foreign Minister Couve de Murville declined to comment at all on Gromyko's talk. Speaking of the Middle East, Gromyko demanded "the immediate withdrawal of the invading forces" from occupied soil in Egypt, Jordan and Syria and said the Israelis should "not be allowed to turn occupied territory into an object of political bargaining."

Goldberg agreed that Israeli troops "must be withdrawn" but said this must be done "in a context of peace" in which no party would be "left free to assert the rights of war." He called for "Mutual accommodation" between Arabs and Israelis.

Some Call It Autumn, Some Call It God

As Autumn officially begins today soon after noon, it is hard not to conclude that it is the most beautiful of all seasons in Wisconsin.

There may be storms. The hurricanes in the Atlantic are later this year than usual and even Wisconsin seems to get some of the backlash of the high winds and turbulence. The sun sets sooner and rises later.

But the yellow, bronze and lavender of the fields, the hush in the meadows, the smell of ripe apples and the welcome

Endorsements of the Water Project

Regional and state planning and regulatory agencies performed a valuable service in responding to Appleton's request to make official determinations on whether the city's proposed pipeline and water treatment plant expansion are in keeping with areawide planning and development.

With all the information and data now in, it would appear the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) can now give immediate consideration to the city's standing request for additional federal aid to help defray the cost of the major addition to be made to the municipal water plant.

Both the Lake Winnebago pipeline and plant addition are related, with the projects to be started early in 1968. Appleton has already received a $793,000 grant for the pipeline construction and is awaiting final word on getting more funds for the plant.

A Revolutionary Society Is a Healthy One

The regrettable American habit of often charging that anything new and strange and especially anything that overturns old economic customs is Communist-inspired came to a head in a series of sedition cases in Kentucky last month.

Officials in Pike County, deep in the poverty stricken area of Appalachia, arrested and charged with sedition several workers with Appalachia Volunteers, an organization funded primarily by the anti-poverty program of the Office of Economic Opportunity. And although a federal court found that the Kentucky sedition law was unconstitutional, a grand jury concluded that there had been "a well organized and well-financed effort made to promote and spread the Communistic theory of the violent and forceful overthrow of the government of Pike County."

One might well wonder what Communists or anyone else would want with Pike County, Kentucky. Its major industry is coal mining and the recent trend to strip mining which causes extensive erosion and the destruction of the land for almost any other purpose has not made Pike County a very pretty place to live. Its mountaineers are extremely poor and both economically and educationally backward. And there is more than a suspicion that the local officials wanted to keep them that way.

The Appalachia Volunteers were organized primarily from a group of Beria College students who spent their summers trying to improve conditions among the mountain people. A couple of the volunteers who were charged with sedition were also members of the Southern Conference Education Fund, generally considered to be

Looking Backward

Verily, a Party of Repudiators

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 21, 1867.

They keep no promise! Commence with the Chicago Platform upon which Lincoln and Hamlin were nominated, and follow each action and legislation of that party, to the present day, and there is not a pledge or promise made by them which have not been broken!

Verily, it (the Republican party) is a party of Repudiators!

Honest men usually avoid all affiliation with those who wantonly break their solemn pledges.

Leaving out of account the money raised and expended in the payment and interest of the Public Debt, the expenditures for the support of the government for the year ending June 30th were more than six times as much as for the year ending June 30th, 1860!

Every vote cast for the Republican Repudiators is an endorsement of this wholesale and unprecedented plunder of the Treasury.

People of Wisconsin, isn't it time to reform matters?

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, Sept. 19, 1942.

Floodwaters the previous day rushed through the northwestern village of Spring Valley, a town of 250 homes, causing havoc and $1,500,000 damage to the area. No lives were lost because of the refuge the hill offered to residents. A 25-man detachment of the National Guard from Eau Claire, Company L, Second Infantry, arrived in the area the preceding night.

Patricia Van Lishout was elected president of the senior Girls Glee Club at Kaukauna High School. Mary Lee Biese was chosen president of the junior club. The secretary-treasurers were senior Rita Schmidkefer and junior John Leddy.

The VAMPs, newly organized women's group at the Menasha Products Division of Marathon Paper Mills, were sponsoring a campaign to collect old keys to sell as a means of raising funds for the USO. The campaign committee included Erna Schierl, Gladys Fink, Mildred Kleepl, Helen Danke, Marianne VanAbel, Agnes Kellett, Gladys Apitz, Mary Ellen Jacob, Edith Poth and Anita Gartzke.

Pattern of Summer Riots Similar But There's Dispute Over Causes

BY DONNA DICKENSON
Associated Press Writer

They start with little incidents.

Two Negro women in Minneapolis begin quarreling over a wig. Houston is swept by a false rumor that a white man has killed a Negro. Firemen in Providence, answering a false alarm, are bombarded with stones and broken bottles. Police rush in — and another riot scars the nation.

Almost 90 racial disturbances have hit this country during the three summer months of 1967.

The peak of the rioting occurred during the last two weeks of July, when violence in Newark, N.J., was rapidly followed by massive disorder in Detroit, and lesser disturbances in Rochester, Seattle, Atlanta, Toledo, Plainfield, N.J., Cambridge, Md., New York City, San Francisco, Minneapolis, and Cincinnati.

At other times violence flared in Dayton, Buffalo, Boston, Tampa, Milwaukee, Providence, Portland, Ore., Riviera Beach, Fla., and New Haven.

DETROIT SUFFERS MOST

Damage was heaviest in Detroit, where 1,400 fires sent property losses soaring toward an estimated $1 billion. At the end of the four-day disturbances, 43 were dead, 3,000 were arrested, and hundreds were homeless.

Newark suffered $10 million in property damages — one-fifth of the money from looted liquor. Almost 2,000 were injured, and 25 died.

The figures are similar for other riot centers. Buffalo's disturbances left 89 hurt. Three died in Milwaukee, two each in New York, Rochester and Tampa. Toledo's fires levelled 55 buildings. Damages to a lumberyard and manufacturing plant in Riviera Beach, Fla., ran to $350,000.

In Milwaukee's three-day disorders, window-smashing alone accounted for $200,000 in damages.

The elements of a riot are so familiar that they sound like cliches: Roving bands of Negro youths, sweltering summer nights, charges of police brutality, window-smashing and bottle-hurling, looted goods and fire bombs.

But if the pattern of the riot is predictable, its real causes are the center of the controversy.

Riots don't simply break out where the greatest number of Negroes live. The city of Washington, where Negroes constitute over half the population, suffered only a few outbreaks of vandalism this summer and no serious rioting.

But Minneapolis, which suffered $421,000 in fire damage during the city's July riots, has an extraordinarily low proportion of Negroes in its population — two per cent. The percentage of Negroes in the U.S. population is 12 per cent — six times higher.

If the proportion of Negroes in a city doesn't cause riots by itself, perhaps the location of Negroes within the city does. Negroes make up only eight per cent of Milwaukee's population, but nine out of ten live in the "Inner Core," the central Negro ghetto.

BLAME GHETTO LIFE

And ghetto life is the basis of many Negro complaints — commercial exploitation, economic deprivation, a "trapped" feeling. A survey by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission shows that the unemployment rate in the ghetto may be as much as six times higher than the citywide unemployment rate.

It's these complaints which provide the tinder for the spark — police incidents or the incitement of outside agitators. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, has testified there's no evidence of a plot behind this summer's nationwide outbreak of violence. But he acknowledged that speeches by such militants as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown have played a minor role in the disturbances.

Often ghetto dwellers feel that promises of more jobs and better housing are just a ruse on the part of city administrators who hope to placate the Negroes and avoid trouble. New Haven receives almost $800 in federal urban renewal funds for every man, woman, and child in the city. But one Negro laborer smiled in disbelief at that statistic, saying, "You know, I don't think I saw a dime of my $800."

And it appears that the war in Vietnam may make it even harder for administrators to carry out their promises. Some congressmen have blamed the riots on the cutback in "Great Society" spending to finance the conflict in southeast Asia.

Whatever the reasons for the rioting, they lie deep.

As Milwaukee's mayor Henry Maier said at a recent news conference: "It is obvious that guns and nightsticks aren't going to solve the problems of the city."

Pupil Transportation South Side Problem

Editor, Post-Crescent.

After much thought I have decided to inform the rest of this city of a newly discovered injustice to some of us taxpayers. I was one of the "100 angry parents" who attended the board of education meeting Monday, Sept. 11.

To give you some background on our problem, we have been told when we bought our homes out here, south of Calumet Street, that transportation to Johnston School 2.4 miles from here would be provided because of the great distance, and there wasn't room for us in Richmond School only one mile from here. The school board tried to make us pay our own transportation last year, but we got them to see how hazardous the route to school is from here. They agreed and paid our bus transportation. This year, just a few days before school was to begin, we were informed we must pay bus transportation again. Then the meeting of the board of education was postponed from Aug. 28 to Sept. 11, after school started.

Approximately 100 people from this area went to the meeting and presented our case, which is that our children who are mostly young elementary age could not possibly walk the hazardous route they claim we should, nor could they walk the distance of 2.4 miles on the safest route.

The department of transportation says we should follow this route to school which is about .4 of a mile shorter than the way the children must go safely. When you have time (when the road is finished that is), drive out and see for yourself. It is: Telulah and Calumet to the road going past the new high school, past the high school to John Street, then east on John Street to Matthias, and north on Matthias, etc. Now if Matthias Street isn't the worst street in the City of Appleton, it must certainly be the second worst, along which there are no sidewalks and cars must dodge the holes. This, citizens, is the route that our children are expected to walk or ride bikes, believe it or not. The transportation department measures this route at 1.6 from Telulah and Calumet, which is still 2 miles from this house.

The board of education was very polite and listened to all those who cared to speak and they agreed it was a bad situation. Imagine our feelings of "shocked disbelief" when we discovered what they've known since the new state transportation law was passed that the school board could not approve funds for our elementary children as before, without having to do the same for every student 1.6 miles (their mileage choice) from their school including junior high and senior high students. We left the meeting in stunned silence after they decided to write another letter to the state for permission to help our area as before.

Now I must ask why, if our board of education knew this last January, they didn't make arrangements before the start of this school year to crowd our 120 elementary children (our approximate count), into Richmond School or at least

Wisconsin Report

Impotence of State Legislatures Must Be Corrected Soon

BY DAVID OBEY
MADISON — Because outmoded State Legislatures are one of the principal governmental obstacles to social progress, the past 10 years have witnessed a disturbing shift of political power from individual states to the national government.

I am convinced that without rapid, aggressive state legislative reform, meaningful state government will go the way of the one horse shay, replaced by an all encompassing central government. States will cease to be the innovative laboratories for social reform which they have been for decades and the American democratic system, rich in diversity, will be profoundly altered.

In Wisconsin, this is principally because the Legislature is not equipped to compete with a well staffed executive and a well oiled bureaucracy. Effective political power is darning into the hands of the administrative bureaucracy and most especially the Department of Administration.

STATE PROGRAMS IRRELEVANT

Because the Department of Administration is more concerned with administrative niceties than it is with program reform, state programs are becoming steadily more irrelevant to the needs of our emerging and confusing urban society.

The Legislature, meanwhile, with miserably inadequate staff and outmoded procedures and organization, can exhibit no real understanding of either the massive new federal programs or the complexity of new state problems.

In 1966 for example, if I had not served as a member of the state Task Force on Medicare, tell us sooner and ask if we could afford to send them to Johnston and, if not, permit us to send our children to Richmond School.

Let us face the cold fact that a bus ride every school day at 15 cents a ride adds up to $54 a year per child. It cost $1 for us to send our child to kindergarten and you would all pay the same, but it costs us $54 to get him to school. He couldn't possibly walk even on the nicest days as we value his life too much to permit this. Even to car pool them five miles a day is expensive and just how big a car pool can you get up when you have five children. This is my case, only one being unfortunate enough to have to go to Johnston. Two of my children go to St. Bernadette School. I don't object to providing their transportation to school because I knew when I decided to send them there instead of the "free" public school that I would have this expense, and I chose to do so. On the other hand, sending my child to kindergarten 2.4 miles to Johnston School is the choice of the school board, and I strongly object to being told I must pay to get him there.

Now citizens of Appleton test you say "Boy, I'm glad I don't live there", let me inform you that according to the state law our school board has a legal right to send your child to any school they choose. But, as one gentleman suggested at the meeting, do they have a moral right to do this? Next year it could be the 4-block area you live in that the school board chooses to go to a distant school and expect you to pay to get them there.

The school board just doesn't have the kind of money it would take to transport all ages of students the way the new law reads. Come on all you citizens; put on your "thinking caps" and find a solution to this problem before it happens to you.

How can Appleton expect areas to annex to the city when people realize by doing so the two miles distance from school for state-paid transportation is cut off and the city of Appleton tax money will not take care of this. Contact your alderman and voice your opinion on this.

And now, fellow citizens of Appleton, I've presented some facts and my opinions as I see it and now it is up to you to fight for justice as equal taxpayers. The school board tells us "hopefully" we will have an elementary school nearer here next year.

Resident 2 Miles from School and Within the City Limits

it would have been impossible for me to understand the many fiscal aid formulas involved, much less the available alternative program patterns. Most legislators obviously had no such exposure and had no way of challenging or altering the Task Force report.

HAVE LITTLE UNDERSTANDING

On highway safety recently, even legislative supporters exhibited little understanding of Motor Vehicle Department plans, and even less about the federal requirements involved.

In education, there is a tremendous gap between the actions of the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education, the Board of Vocational and Technical and Adult Education and the Department of Administration and legislative awareness of those actions.

In order to recapture its position as an effective policy maker, the Legislature needs certain immediate and radical changes in its archaic method of operation.

Assemblyman David Obey represents the Wausau district in the State Legislature and is the assistant leader of the Democratic Assembly minority.

It is absolutely necessary to make legislative leadership positions fulltime responsibilities and to preclude these men from holding outside jobs. Unless this is done, the typical bureaucratic view of legislative sessions will remain — that they are temporary inconveniences that must be tolerated until the Legislature adjourns and the bureaucracy can return to business as usual.

WANTS ANNUAL BUDGETING

Annual budgets and legislative sessions are needed now. It is ridiculous for the state, a billion dollar corporation, to guess two years in advance what its income and expenditures will be.

Full-time staffing of major committees with competent professionals is perhaps most important of all. It is absurd for the Education Committee to sit in executive session, with no staff, and spend 40 minutes debating what present law is in some obscure area of concern.

The problem of legislative impotence is not unique to Wisconsin, as I discovered at a week long conference sponsored by the Rutgers University Eagleton Institute of Politics. It is shared by all states, except perhaps California.

If it is not met head on and if, consequently, more and more meaningful decisions are made in Washington in order to save society from outmoded Legislatures, the central government will not be to blame. Rather, it will be State Legislatures which recognized the problem, but failed to act.

Men With Time on Hands Build Church

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP) — Eight men with time on their hands have helped complete a church construction project that lagged for years.

The eight inmates at Naughton State Prison Camp volunteered their services in their free time. They hauled lumber, drove nails and helped with cementing and painting the Lake Tomahawk Bible Church.

La Verne Lay, a camp correctional officer, hinted the eight had extra incentive.

"After they'd work some evenings," he said, "Mrs. Hickox, the pastor's wife, would treat them to a big feed — which they didn't mind a bit."

Separate Birthdays

ATLANTIC, Iowa (AP) — Twin sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson at the Cass County Hospital here. But the two boys will have different "birthdays." The first twin was born at 11:58 p.m.; his brother arrived at 12:02 a.m. the next day.

Private Property Loses Posniak, Gain Guitarist

BY CHUCK POSNIAK

During the last two weeks I have been receiving an exceptionally large amount of mail from fans around the state who have seen the new Private Property.

The reason for these letters is that as of three weeks ago I am no longer a member of the band. I had intended leaving Private Property last June but since no musician who would fit the personality of the group was available at the time, I promised to remain until September.

I first got started on stage four years ago when I suddenly was called upon to sing one evening while watching the Catalinas, the group my brother Al, was in at the time.

Memories Band

I soon started my own band, the Memories, in which I was a featured singer. Not being the greatest singer in the world I decided to learn to play an instrument, the piano. The piano soon led to organ which I have been playing ever since.

After two and a half years with the Memories when the group broke up, I joined Private Property. That was a year ago. Luckily, both groups have had the support of rock fans young and old, making the whole thing worthwhile. It's just too bad that neither group made the big time, but that's show business.

Almost all the letters I have received have asked what my plans are for the future. Answering one of the most popular. I do plan to continue writing the column, as long as I know people are reading it.

Plans Present, Future

I also plan to work at Appleton's recording company, Target Records, keeping in close contact with the area's younger and coming talent. I also work full time at one of the area's data processing centers. With a little luck I will be going back to college to learn more about electronic brains.

Rock and roll is a good part-time business for full-time high school and college students, but there are very few people who actually make a good full-time living out of it.

As I have stated in previous columns, gaining or losing one member can easily change the sound of a band. I know that the sound of Private Property is going to change. It is up to them if this change is for the better or worse.

Hope Group Improves

I have not as yet seen the new group perform, but I am sure that with the amount of talent in it the change will be for the better.

Three of the members Steve Gertch, Dan Jacklin, and Doug Yankus remain the same. Taking my place is Dave Foss, ex-lead guitarist for the Revised Edition. The group plans to specialize in original tunes.

Private Property's last record, "Destination Nowhere," although not a big smash, did climb high on many of the record charts and helped spread the popularity of the group.

New Recording Out

Last week Private Property released its follow-up record, "Princess," backed with "Sunshine Flames." It already has been picked up by many radio stations and should spread the name of Private Property even farther.

Being the 1st record I recorded with the group I hope it does the four of them some good. Perhaps this change is just the thing the group needed to really take off.

Abundant Joint Fluids Cause Painful Bursitis

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss bursitis, what causes it in shoulder and arm, and anything that can be done for relief. Can it be cured? — Mrs. W. D.

A bursa is a little pad containing a viscous fluid which is designed by nature to let tendons ride easily over bony prominences in the joints. The critical joints are usually shoulders, knees, elbows or heels, although there are others. When a bursa becomes irritated, the amount of fluid in it increases and it becomes painful. That is bursitis.

Dr. Molner

Overuse or too much pressure on a joint is a common cause. Housemaid's knee (from kneeling), tennis elbow, chauffeur's elbow and the like are examples of bursitis.

Sometimes the tendons themselves become inflamed also, and ultimately may develop calcium deposits as part of the healing process. X-ray will disclose this, and it is called calcific tendonitis.

Treatment — obviously — must begin with letting the joint rest so the bursa can get over its irritated condition and return to normal size. Wet heat, applied by hot compresses, is very comforting.

Various anti-inflammatory drugs (aspirin, phenylbutazone, indomethacin) ease the pain, and in severe cases sometimes hydrocortisone is injected to give relief while the swollen bursa is resting and recovering. Ultra-sound and diathermy (both of which are methods of providing heat inside the tissues, rather than merely letting heat absorb from the surface) also are used.

With rest and care, the acutely painful stage subsides, but when one has had an attack of bursitis, remember that the bursa has taken some abuse. You probably won't have to baby it, but you certainly should take care not to subject it to the same sort of strain that brought on the attack. In the shoulder, be wary of exaggerated or unusual movement — well-washing and painting are examples. If the bursitis was in the knee, continued kneeling, as in scrubbing a floor, may start the trouble again. Either strain, unusual stretching or pressure can irritate the bursa.

Yes, bursitis usually can be cured, in the sense of ending the pain, but no pill is going to make it as good as new. You have to protect it to a reasonable degree.

Dear Dr. Molner: In the process of koshering meat for religious purposes, the meat is soaked and salted and blood removed. Does the meat thus lose iron or other nutrients? Is there any real difference in nutritional value? — P.A.L.

Department of Agriculture data show that corned beef has essentially the same nutritional value as non-kosher round steak. Kosher beef has a somewhat lower thiamine and niacin content, but the iron and protein content per 100 grams is for all practical purposes the same.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had so much trouble with wax in my ears, that I have to have it removed every month. I use sweet oil to soften it, but I dread

Several Crowded Craft Seek Out Nude Swimmer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — It was a quiet afternoon at the Long Beach police station when some women complained that a blonde was swimming nude in the Long Beach main channel.

Immediately, several small craft crammed with officers rushed to the scene.

When they finally got Anita Alisa Gren, 24, aboard and clothed, it was determined that the 5-foot-4 Swedish lass was wearing only panties.

"Pink," observed one wide-eyed officer solemnly.

Miss Gren was charged with violation of Long Beach City Ordinance 1014.84: No swimming in the main channel.

Lutherans Propose to Acquire Lodge

NEW LONDON — A proposal to acquire a piece of property on South Twin Lake to be used for recreational purposes by members of the Wisconsin Synod Lutheran Church will be decided at a meeting at 3 p.m. Sunday at Emmanuel Lutheran Church here.

The newly-formed Silver Birch Lutheran Haven Association is attempting to purchase a lodge at a cost of $76,000, including land, buildings and equipment. It is located on the west side of South Twin Lake, 12 miles north of Eagle River on Silver Birch Road.

The parcel includes 70 acres with 900 feet of lake frontage. The lodge has a dining room, kitchen, nine large bedrooms, two bathrooms and eight cottages with baths. A recreation area with tennis, basketball, two volleyball and shuffle board courts are located on the property and there are areas which can be developed for camping grounds.

Charter Membership

The association will be organized by and for laymen of the Wisconsin Synod Lutheran Church. Charter membership will be limited to 380 members and living within the boundaries of Fond du Lac on the south, Wausau on the west, Lake Michigan and northern boundary of Wisconsin.

The churches in the Neenah-Menasha area which belong to the Wisconsin Synod are Trinity Lutheran, Neenah; Bethel Evangelical Church, Menasha; Martin Luther Evangelical Lutheran, Neenah; and Grace Evangelical Lutheran, Neenah. Carl L. Williams, Neenah, is acting president of the new association and persons interested in the proposal are asked to attend the meeting at New London Sunday or contact Williams.

Charter membership will be granted to those donating at least $200 to the association. Payment will be made on a three-year time payment plan.

An associate membership will require a donation of at least $10 and there will be no limit to the number of memberships.

During the vacation season, a charter member will have the privilege of renting the facilities at about 25 per cent below the regular price set by the board of directors. After five years, a member may withdraw his interest in the association, and the $200 donation will be refunded when his membership is purchased by an associate member.

Facilities will be available to charter members during the pre- and post-vacation season on a daily basis which will be set by the board of directors. Privileges will not be transferrable and only charter or voting members will have voting privileges.

Reservations will be accepted from the associate members only after the voting members have been given an opportunity to make reservations. Contributions from associate members will not be returned, and fees for use of facilities will be the same as voting members. Association members will have first chance to purchase a voting membership whenever available.

Vacancies during the vacation season will be open to non-members. Congregations may request use of the facilities. A minister and his family will be offered free lodging in exchange for being responsible for morning worship and daily devotions as camp pastor. Reservations will be for a full week.

Any profits will be used to improve and expand recreation programs. If the association is dissolved, any profits will be donated to a charitable organization named by the voting members.

First Draft of Budget for Menasha Schools Due Soon

MENASHA — The Menasha Board of Education may get its first glimpse of the 1968 budget on Monday for work sessions on the proposal at its regular meeting 7 p.m. Monday.

Frank Rosch, chairman of the board's finance committee, said that a budget proposal will be in his hands on or before Oct. 15.

Last year's operating budget of $1.4 million, which carried a debt service budget of $236,767, went rough going once in the council and town's hands last year.

The board was asked to cut $250,000 and finally accepted cuts of $119,775.

The question of where to house school buses, because of an overcrowded city garage will also be an item for consideration at Monday's meeting.

Of interest will be the final alignment of maintenance positions for Butte des Morts Junior High School and Clovis Grove School.

Teacher Talks in Neenah Stalemated

Higher Pay At Issue in Bargaining

NEENAH — On the eve of the Neenah Board of Education's presentation of its tentative $5 million budget proposal to city and towns in the district, negotiations with teachers on salary increases for the 1968-69 school year are at a stalemate.

The board has included in its budget a $225,000 item to cover salary and cost of living increases for its professional staff, plus an additional $248,000 for the 26 teachers added this year and another 24 teachers to be added in the coming year.

This total represents 53 per cent of the $907,879 budget increase outlined in the tentative 1968 school budget, which will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Horace Mann Junior High School.

Statement

In a joint statement late Friday, Supr. Donald Scott, speaking for the personnel committee of the Board of Education and the negotiating team for the Neenah Educational Association, revealed that several proposals offered by the board have been rejected by the teachers' committee.

"We have met regularly since last May and in the nine meetings, several proposals have been offered by both," Scott said.

"The board's budget estimate was based on its most recent proposal. The teachers' last proposal was in line with teachers demands in other parts of the country calling for increases of from 10 to 15 per cent, with starting salaries of from $6,500 to $7,000.

'Catching Up'

"Teachers in Neenah feel that there is considerable catching up to be done at the local level. Salary increases will not be firm by the time the tentative budget is presented Monday night," the statement said.

The teachers' representatives and board said they will step up negotiations in an effort to meet the budget deadline date of Oct. 2.

Another meeting is planned for Tuesday. Bargaining has been almost wholly on salary, Scott said.

The board bargaining team is Mrs. Andrea Bletzinger, chairman, Dr. John Wilson, William Burger and Frank Hamilton, representing the teachers are Vernon Rueckert, chairman, Mrs. Marjorie Bretschneider, Paul Thoman and Lewis Pre-court of the Neenah Educational Association.

Costs Too Much

Steiger Attacks Job Corps Results WSU-O Students

CHICAGO — Sixth District establishment of residential skill Rep. William Steiger, R-Osh-kosh, a member of the congressional panel here at the annual, GOP Women's Conference, said today the results produced by the Job Corps didn't justify the funds.

A member of the House Education and Labor Committee, the freshman congressman said the Job Corps is an example of "a program for thousands of miles to Job Corps which huge sums of money have been spent but which has not produced the kind of results necessary to justify the funds."

His criticism of the Job Corps was part of a general attack on the War on Poverty. He called for the poverty program to be "redirected" to provide for participation of the states' private industry and those who benefit from the program.

Republicans are proposing a broader program at less cost than the present program. This is the type of approach for which we are working and are hopeful will be adopted by the 90th Congress."

Steiger said in too many cases "we have found that the present program of channeling funds into poverty areas is not enough and in no way adequate to meet the need. In too many cases, those who run the program are getting the money rather than the poor," he charged.

In other cases, federal funds are being wasted on elaborate programs that have not reached those who are in need, he said.

What Republicans are talking about is a total, rather than a partial, war against the causes of poverty. "We are talking about the involvement of the private sector of our economy and a greater involvement of state government."

Taught at UCLA

He has taught at UCLA, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and has been a member of the faculty at WSU-O since 1961.

The meeting will be open to the public. Discussion and refreshments will follow the talk in the meeting room at the Neenah police station.

Fire Siren Could Kill Youngster

LINDENWOLD, N.J. (AP) — The parents of a 3-year-old boy with heart disease living 150 feet from Lindenwold's fire siren—have been told by the boy's doctor that he could die if he is subjected to continued sudden, loud noises.

And the siren makes sudden, loud noises.

Mayor David Ernst, siding with the boy, Thomas Roselli, at a meeting of the American Legion Wednesday.

Nicholas Roselli, has suggested that the fire siren be moved 400 or 500 feet.

Firemen have objected to the mayor's suggestion and a spokesman for the fire fighters say they'll strike if the siren is moved. The firemen claim they wouldn't be able to hear the siren if it is moved from its present location.

Open-Space Grant Delayed to Await Plan

MENASHA — Federal money to help pay for a proposed park site in the Town of Menasha has been delayed, pending adoption of an urban area-wide regional plan.

Town officials received a letter from Edward Bruder, administrator in the Chicago office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Friday, outlining the requirements for park grants.

The town had applied for an open-space grant to pay 50 per cent of the cost for acquiring an 18-acre community park. Last March, the town board received a report saying their request was being processed and evaluated.

The new HUD stipulation for grants calls for participation in an urban area-wide comprehensive plan and program.

The Fox Valley Council of Governments will vote on Oct. 11 whether or not to appropriate $75,000 to finance the comprehensive area-wide planning needed to make the Fox Valley municipalities eligible for federal HUD park grants, as well as water and sewer grants.

Tabled

The matter was tabled at a meeting two weeks ago to allow the mayors, village presidents and town chairmen an opportunity to discuss the importance of the measure with their own local officials.

The Town of Menasha could receive its open-space grant, once the area-wide plan is prepared and submitted to HUD.

Bruder in his letter to Town Chairman Roland Kamp, said, "these requirements reflect the increasing emphasis on area-wide comprehensive planning as an essential basis for planning and carrying out of public facility and land development projects in the metropolitan area."

"These requirements are also

Alliance Split On Abolishing Assessor Post

Near-Deadlock Vote
By City Leaders
Comes as Surprise

Pending legislation which would establish a statewide county assessor and tax collection system split the delegates to the Alliance of Cities conference here Thursday.

It came as a surprise when the voting to approve the bill ended in a deadlock with the tie being broken by Mayor Otto Festge of Madison, Alliance President.

City and state legislators, including Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich (R-Appleton), have generally favored passage of the legislation to improve the present assessing system.

Position Eliminated

However, it was apparent that several mayors in the Alliance were conscious of the fact that under a countywide assessment program the position to assessor in their respective communities would be eliminated.

The same would apply to those of treasurer, because under terms of the bill all tax collections would be made through the county with money distributed back to the municipalities.

Wide differences in the methods of assessing property in cities and rural areas triggered the bill now in the Assembly.

Lightly Taken

"The trouble is that in a lot of towns and villages the job of assessor is not taken seriously enough," Festge said.

As an example he told of the time he was elected assessor of the Town of Cross Plains for eight years. "I told them I didn't know a thing about property values but the town board felt that wasn't necessary anyway," Festge commented.

The proposed legislation would set qualifications for the county assessor and put the job under civil service, Festge explained.

Other Action

In other action, the Alliance recommended passage of proposed bills that would:

Permit merger of local housing and redevelopment authorities into one agency.

Provide state aids for police costs, making intensive training programs on the local level one requirement for receiving financial assistance.

Result in increasing the municipalities' share of the sales tax distribution to give further property tax relief.

Bank Plans Parking Lot

First National Buys
Old YMCA Site for
65-Car Facility

First National Bank has purchased the site of the old YMCA along W. Lawrence Street, between S. Oneida and S. Appleton streets, to construct a customer parking lot.

Construction will start next week and will be finished early this fall, according to Harold C. Adams, bank president.

The property is 285 feet along Lawrence Street and 120 feet deep. The service station on the corner of Lawrence and Appleton Street will be razed and the entire lot will be blacktopped with parking for 65 cars.

Automatic Gates

Automatic gates will be installed and the exits will be activated with a token supplied the customer in the bank.

Coroner's Inquest Held

Youth Faces Charges From Fatal Accident

Outagamie County police said this morning that an 18-year-old rural Black Creek youth would be charged this afternoon with failure to yield the right of way at open intersection in connection with a two-car accident Aug. 24 that killed Miss Sandra Kasten, 20, route 2, Black Creek.

The charge against Steven M. Rettler, route 2, follows a coroner's inquest Thursday afternoon.

Miss Kasten died instantly when her car, traveling west on Ott Road, collided with Rettler's, moving north on 12 Corners Road. County police reported that the uncontrolled intersection was about three miles southeast of Black Creek.

At the inquest, Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer questioned four witnesses. There was no jury.

Faster Than Normal

Testimony from 13-year-old Robert Vegoe and William Bay-er, route 2, Black Creek alleged that Rettler was "traveling at faster than normal" for 12 Corners Road. Beyer, whose testimony was read by Kemps and which had been taken by the coroner Sept. 14, estimated Rettler's speed at about 70 m.p.h.

Witness Alvin M. Holz, route 2, Black Creek, who had been traveling "four or five hundred yards" behind Miss Kasten on Ott Road the afternoon of the fatal crash, estimated that he had been moving about 45 to 50 m.p.h. He stated that Miss Kasten had stayed about the same distance ahead of him while traveling the road.

Orville Crane, an Outagamie County traffic patrolman, testified there were no skid marks at the scene, apparently indicating that the drivers did not see other prior to impact.

Rettler, who could remember "nothing" about the accident, said that he had left work for his home about 5 p.m. Aug. 24. He was working on a construction project on the north side of Appleton. The accident occurred at 5:40 p.m.

Aldermen Want Time to Study Proposal

Referendum Plan for Major Bond Issues Deferred by City Council

Action was deferred by the Appleton city council this week night on a resolution calling for public referendums on all future bond issues over $750,000.

Such a policy had been recommended by the finance committee Monday night in the wake of public criticism of the city's rising debt and property tax rate.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, set the stage for postponement when he asked to have the referendum matter referred back to his group.

Automatic Action

A referral request is automatic under council rules.

Admittedly, Tews said, the referendum matter has stirred considerable discussion in the community. He thought the council would not be prepared to vote on the resolution on short notice and recommended further study.

Tews said the finance director should get information from other cities who have such a policy to see how it is carried out.

"However, I am confident that something along this line will be adopted in the not too distant future," Tews declared.

All Major Projects

The resolution, advocated by a citizen who appeared before the committee earlier in the week, would apply to all major public projects.

Most of the criticism during discussion on the resolution Monday night was centered on the spending and new school construction policies of the board of education.

The council approved an initial resolution for $2.8 million worth of bond issues for school and other public improvements Wednesday night which will raise the city's debt past the $25 million mark.

$26,000 Fire Destroys Truck

Highway Vehicle
Crew Escapes Injury
Near Mackville

Fire that broke out when a hose broke on a hydraulic pump destroyed a large Wisconsin State Highway Department sign truck Friday afternoon. Damage was estimated at $26,000.

None of the truck's crew was injured, according to Outagamie County police. The truck, which was equipped with a digger, was being used for sign installation work along State 47, a mile north of Mackville, when the fire broke out about 3:15 p.m. Police said the truck was being operated by James L. Zwick, 24, 826 Kellogg St., Green Bay.

Police were told that when the pump hose broke, hydraulic fluid spilled onto the truck's hot exhaust pipe. The fuel tank "exploded" when flames enveloped the large truck. Highway department employees tried unsuccessfully to put out the flames with two extinguishers. The Town of Center Fire Department was at the scene.

Police, who re-routed traffic on 47 until the truck was removed, said the vehicle was loaded with signs, which also were destroyed.

Stolen Car Sought

Area law enforcement agencies are seeking a blue and white 1963 Buick Skylark convertible reported stolen at 1:45 a.m. today.

Firemen Called When Auto Starts Burning

Appleton firemen were called to the home of Douglas Verrier, 1624 N. Bennett St., at 4:15 p.m. Friday when Verrier's 1956 station wagon reportedly caught fire.

Firemen said someone using an extinguisher had the fire out when they arrived.

Attorney Still Contends That Youths Rights Were Violated

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer Friday afternoon was asked to submit a brief stating his position in the controversial case involving two 17-year-old Appleton boys accused of burglarizing the S. C. Shannon Co. warehouse July 8.

An attorney for Jack C. Meyer, 711 E. Dennison St., and James L. Satorius, 1209 N. Morrison St., contends that the youths' constitutional rights were violated because they were held in juvenile detention for 5½ days before being brought before the Juvenile Court judge.

The attorney refused to enter pleas for his young clients Friday afternoon because ruling had not yet been made on his objections concerning the youths' rights.

Capt. Robb Preferred Vietnam

BY TIM WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SPRING GREEN — Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb did not want to be assigned to the White House as a military aid more than a year ago, his father said Friday night.

He wanted to go to Vietnam instead.

But the 28-year-old career officer engaged to marry 23-year-old Linda Johnson obviously has changed his mind about White House duty by now.

James S. Robb, a district sales manager for American Airlines in Milwaukee, talked briefly about his son with a Post-Crescent reporter shortly before the dinner honoring Chuck's future mother-in-law — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

'Disappointment'

"It was a great disappointment to him when he got the assignment at the White House," the elder Robb said.

"He's real gung ho," on the Marine Corps, the father proudly said of his son who serves as a staff aide. As other bachelor officers are required to do, Robb filled in as an escort at social events for unattached White House ladies.

Capt. Robb, a Milwaukee native, will keep that date in Vietnam next spring — but not before marrying Miss Johnson.

The couple dated for about a year before the announcement of the engagement was made, said James Robb. But he could not specify a date as to when the young couple became serious.

His son's letters home are "reticent," the father reported.

The Johnsons and Robbs met at the White House a week ago and "had a nice family dinner," the elder Robb said.

Brief Chat

Mrs. Johnson was able to spend a few minutes chatting with the Robbs at their table before being compelled to move on to a Spring Green theatre date.

"We're holding up," the smiling couple agreed when asked how the hurried life of the First Lady compares with their own private life.

Robb told the national press corps assigned to covering Mrs. Johnson that he could not tell them if a date has been set for the planned December wedding.

And even if I could, I would not tell you," he said.

"It's their love affair; it's their wedding," the elder Robb said.

Supervisors Deny Night Meeting Idea

Airport, Courthouse Annex Used Against 'Light Load' Argument

Twelve rural and nine Appleton supervisors were among the 24 Outagamie County Board members who voted against having a night board meeting in October.

Supv. Robert Weyenberg of Kimberly sought a 7:30 p.m. meeting for Oct. 17. His proposal, made in the closing minutes of this week's two-day board session drew a second from Clayton VanDyke, Kaukauna supervisor. The move was defeated 24-11, with 11 supervisors absent when balloting took place.

Weyenberg said next month would be a good time for a night meeting because, since a considerable amount of business was transacted at the September board meeting, the work load should be lighter in October.

However, Kaukauna Supervisor Russell DeLaHunt reminded Weyenberg that the airport runway extension will come up for consideration again and considerable discussion is expected on a proposal to construct a courthouse annex at the site of the old airport.

Those things, DeLaHunt said, could make for "a long, busy session" in October. Weyenberg said he believed a night meeting would draw more interested spectators to the courthouse.

The 11 votes for the night meeting were cast by Supervisors G. Allen Bubolz, John Dietz, Eugene Kloes, Patrick Mares, John R. Schreiter, Ralph Schwartz, Barbara Steger, and Arnold Welch, all of Appleton; Norman Austin of the Town of Oneida; Van Dyke and Weyenberg.

Board Chairman Sylvester Esler was among the 24 supervisors who voted against a night meeting in October.

The meeting Oct. 17 will start at 9:30 a.m., as do all day meetings.

Council Votes Fringe Benefits

Appleton to Pay Greater Share of Officials' Insurance

Appleton's elected city officials were voted increased hospital-surgical insurance fringe benefits by the city council this week.

Effective immediately, the clerk, treasurer, assessor and city attorney will have 70 per cent of the premium cost paid by the city should they elect to come under the municipal insurance coverage plan.

The premium payment is the amount granted to other municipal employees in labor contracts.

Aldermen Eligible

The council also voted that, effective next April, the mayor and aldermen elected in the spring, 1967, election will be eligible for the increased benefit. In the past, the city paid 50 per cent of the cost.

The council also: —Renewed its contract with Associated Hospital Service (Blue Cross-Blue Shield) for a year, beginning Oct. 1, at higher monthly rates of $8.87 for single employees and $22.85 for family coverage.

—Approved the promotion of Mrs. Diane Gilsdorf who will become Mayor George Buckley's secretary succeeding Miss Marcel Duvel, who is retiring. Mrs. Gilsdorf is transferring from the welfare department.

Approve Course

—Voted to send Sgt. Carl Thiel of the Appleton Police Department to a two-week course on Advanced Criminal Investigation at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 16-27.

—Purchased 100,000 parking tickets for $1,474 from Acme Press, Inc., Appleton.

Pleads Innocent To Topsy Driving

Jess H. Schubert, 51, 617 N. Superior St., Friday pleaded innocent of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set trial for Jan. 22 and ordered bond of $224.

Appleton police arrested Schubert after his car ran into the rear of another vehicle about 9:15 p.m. Sept. 19 in the 1000 block of W. College Ave.

Judge Orders Release Of Appleton Man; Sets Trial Date for Dec. 4

A 25-year-old Appleton man who was being held under $4,000 Friday afternoon that put both bond Friday was ordered released from jail on his own recognition.

Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren also set Dec. 4 as trial date for Larry A. Steidl who earlier this month pleaded innocent to four counts of possessing lewd, obscene, or indecent written matter. Judge Van Susteren was assigned the case after an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge Gustave J. Keller. The charges were brought after investigation by county authorities.

Van Susteren's order on the bond came after a bail-bond study by the State Department of Health and Social Services,

More Witnesses Today

Psychiatrist Testifies McBair Mentally Ill

BARABOO (AP)—The prosecution scheduled more witnesses for today after putting ten on the stand Friday in attempts to prove that James McBair was sane when he shot his wife and three other persons to death last March 5 near Wautoma.

The defense rested its case Friday after Dr. Albert Lorenz, head of the Northwest Psychiatric Clinic at Eau Claire, testified that McBair was insane.

"I felt he was incapacitated by mental illness until he could not use his judgment to conform to law," Lorenz said.

The prosecution said it would introduce expert witnesses of its own.

McBair was convicted Monday of murdering his wife, her step-sister, step-father and a 14-year-old baby sitter in a cabin near Wautoma. He pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. The second trial is to determine his sanity.

The state's first witnesses included two bartenders at a tavern where McBair was drinking the night of the shootings. They testified they saw nothing wrong with him at that time.

Richard Zellmer, vice president of Omro Machine Co., where McBair worked for a year until a few weeks before the murders, said he was a good employee and had shown good judgment on a complicated job.

Homer, Jethro Ticket Sales Set Monday

Ducats for Friday's 6:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. shows at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel will be limited to two-per-person on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Homer and Jethro, nationally-known radio and TV entertainers — often referred to as the kings of musical mirth — were contracted by the city to headline the list of entertainment for the three-day civic event.

Tickets will be $1 apiece. The treasurer's office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

The office is located on the first floor of the city hall. The chapel will hold 1,300-1,500 persons.

Motorcycle Riding Lesson Ends With Two Hospitalized

A lesson in how to ride a motorcycle ended in an accident Friday afternoon that put both the instructor and his "pupil" in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Taken to the hospital about 1:45 p.m. by Lindy's Ambulance were Mary C. Hahn, 18, 531 W. Prospect Ave., who suffered cuts and abrasions to both legs and a head injury, and her passenger, Michael Van Groll, 17, 1331 S. Connell St., who suffered left leg and ankle injuries.

Appleton police said the cycle was eastbound on W. Prospect, at Elm and Fifth streets, when it struck a raised manhole, went out of control, and slid under a pickup truck driven by Charles E. Kohl, 19, 4730 N. Lynndale Dr., Appleton.

Little Chute Motorist Injured in Accident on U.S. 41 Near Appleton

Robert E. Schmidt, 54, 1508 E. Main Ave., Little Chute, was taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by Larry's Ambulance with bumps and bruises he suffered about 7:30 p.m. Friday when his car ran into the rear of another vehicle on U.S. 41 at Spencer Street, just west of Appleton.

Driver of the other car was Meta H. Rohloff, 802 Florida Ave., Appleton.

Outagamie County police said the Rohloff car had just turned onto 41 from Spencer and was northbound when it was struck in the rear by Schmidt's small, foreign car.

Lawrence H. Kossell, 46, 113 Cummings Lane, Neenah, suffered minor injuries when his car was struck from behind about 12:30 p.m. Friday on Outagamie County Trunks OO and A, a mile and a half north of Appleton.

Police said Kossell was stopped for a stop sign when he was rammed by a vehicle driven by Walter C. Hamburg, 71, Shawano.

Supervisor Ill, Misses Key Vote

A vote roundup in a story in Friday's paper indicated that Supv. Stanley Gillespie of Grand Chute was one of 32 Outagamie County supervisors who voted against allotting Appleton $100,000 toward downtown College Avenue reconstruction costs.

Actually, Gillespie became ill and was not present when the vote was taken at Thursday afternoon's county board session.

Dolphins Pick Up Roberts to Bolster QBs

Former Columbia Star Acquired From Cleveland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Columbia University quarterback Archie Roberts was signed Friday night by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League, replacing injured starter John Stofa. Roberts, 24, has been a member of the Cleveland Browns' taxi squad for the last two seasons and played in two games this summer with the Akron Vulcans of the Continental League. Joe Robbie, president and general manager of the Dolphins, said Roberts would join the squad next Monday and would be activated later in the week.

Broke Leg
The Dolphins lost Stofa in their first game, a 35-21 victory over Denver last Sunday. Stofa broke his leg after only four minutes of play. Rookie Bob Griese took over for Stofa and guided the Dolphins to the victory. The team's other quarterback is Rick Norton, a second year man. The Dolphins also said they had picked up rookie tackle Mike Current on waivers from the Denver Broncos.

Current, 22, is a 6-foot-5, 270-pound offensive specialist who played college football at Ohio State. To make way for him, the Dolphins waived Bob Bruggers, a linebacker sidelined with a pulled leg muscle.

Motor Troll Plan Rejected

Extension Over Non-Muskie Lakes Fails to Get Okay

MARINETTE (AP) — The Conservation Commission Friday rejected a plan to extend motor trolling next year to all but 14 counties. Motor trolling had been started in Wisconsin in 1958 on an experimental basis and had expanded every year since then. The Conservation Congress had proposed allowing motor trolling on nonmuskie lakes over 500 acres everywhere in the state except the 14 counties. But the proposal had split results in a poll. As a result, motor trolling next year will be restricted to the same areas where it was legal during the last season. The counties where it is not allowed are: Iron, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Menominee, Oconto, Oneida, Shawano, Vilas, Outagamie, Washington, Wau-paca, Price and Sawyer counties. The commission in another action, endorsed extending the dates for taking fishing shelters off the lake ice later than this year, but no precise dates were set.

Xavier, Kimberly Remain Unbeaten With Victories

Hawks Roll To 35-0 Win Over Squires

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor
DE PERE — If Pennings High School Coach Don LaViolette and the football Squires hadn't known that "Rocky" Bleier was safely in South Bend, Ind., Friday night awaiting Notre Dame's 1967 opener, they probably would have sworn that Appleton Xavier's former all-star was back playing the Fox Valley Catholic Conference. Junior halfback, Brad Graff, Xavier's 1967 version of Bleier, led the Squires a merry chase with his running, passing, pass catching and kicking, as he led a bristling band of Hawks to a 35-0 victory in Minahan Stadium.

The swift and versatile Graff continued his outstanding play by scoring two touchdowns, kicking a 23-yard field goal and two extra points, throwing a TD aerial and intercepting one pass. It marked the fourth straight game in which Graf has tallied two touchdowns for the unbeaten Hawks, who have won three and tied one.

In continuing their quest of a seventh straight FVCC title, the Gene (Torchy) Clark-coached Hawks logged their second league win (and second shutout) in two tries. They also stretched their 2-season unbeaten streak to 10 games.

Score Other TDs
Other Hawk touchdowns, last night, were scored by Greg Steinhorst, on a 1-yard quarterback keeper; Tom Thomson, on a 23-yard pass reception; and Jim Haase, on the recovery of a loose ball in the end zone (after a bad center snap).

Meanwhile, a whip-cracking Hawk defense — spearheaded by Bill Pfefferle, Jeff Bartosic, Wayne Hayostek, Mike Braun, Joe Spitz and Dick Koller — lowered the boom any time the Squires threatened to manufacture some points.

In the first half, the Squires reached the Xavier 22 before the hard-charging Hawk line inflicted a pair of losses on Pennings and Graff intercepted a pass. Also in the first half, the Squires drove to the Xavier 20, but all they had to show after that was a minus one yard in four attempts.

The only second-half Pennings penetration of note came on the second last play of the game when a 29-yard pass, Marc Wright to Joe Nix, brought the ball to the Xavier 25. The game ended after an incompletion.

Despite its liberal use of reserves in the third and fourth quarters, Xavier rolled up 347 yards, of which 253 came on the ground. Pennings was restricted to 80 yards rushing and 47 through the air.

With the game less than four minutes old, Graff sent Xavier out front with a 69-yard touchdown dash. He bolted through the line, swivel-hipped past several defenders, spun away from a final would-be tackler on the Pennings 45 and outran the rest of the pursuers. Graff also converted, via placement.

Intercepts Pass
Steinhorst picked off a Pennings pass to set up another score in the first period. He returned the ball 25 yards to the Squires' 10, but a penalty set the Hawks back to the 25. Three running plays and a 13-yard swing pass, Steinhorst to Graff, took the ball to the one. Greg, who drove for 35 yards in eight running plays during the game, accounted for the final yard. Graff's kick missed.

East '11' Downed By Preble, 14-6 In Defensive Tilt

Patriots Get to 9-Yard Line Twice, Also Stopped on the 16

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Preble's Hornets had an armor plated defense and just enough offense. Southwest's Trojans didn't have quite enough of either. Result: Green Bay split a pair of Fox River Valley Conference games Friday night as Preble toppled Appleton East, 14-6, and Southwest bowed to Fond du Lac, 19-6.

The decisions left both Green Bay schools balanced in the valley book, Preble owning a 1-1 record and Southwest 1-1-1 log. Southwest's loss, however, also gave Fondy sole ownership of first place with a 3-0 record since Green Bay West, 2-0, has a bye this weekend. Green Bay East is at Appleton West this afternoon. Friday night's only other game saw Sheboygan North edge Manitowoc, 34-0.

In East Stadium, the betting at halftime would have been on a scoreless tie as Appleton kept ramming the ball at Preble and the Hornets stubbornly refused to budge whenever the Patriots came too close to the goal line.

But all that changed in the second half. . . . with the suddenness of a gunshot in a quiet park. The half started peacefully enough with Preble accepting the kickoff, absorbing a penalty on first play and gaining only a yard to the 24 on the second play because of a backfield mixup. It was much the same as it was in the first half.

But then Bobby Kroll was handed the ball and as he started out wide to his right, he was trapped by four Patriots four yards behind the line of scrimmage. So trapped was he that almost all the rest of the players on the field turned around to watch the killing.

Only Kroll, with furious determination, escaped the web and spun back to his left and into the open. It was such a startling development that it left only one man between him and the goal line 80 yards away. And he juked him around the 30 to trot into the end zone for six points. Gary Langenberg kicked the extra point.

Struck Again
In the fourth quarter, lightning struck again and again it was Kroll who turned it into six more points. This time, the free wheeling linebacker intercepted an Appleton pass at the Patriot 40. And with Tim Verheyen connecting on three of four passes, Preble moved the ball to the Patriot 23 where it was fourth down and 9. But Verheyen, faking nicely to his right, then pitched a pass into the left flat. Kroll gathered it in, bruised past a defender at the 15 and tallied six more. Langenberg again took the point.

There were only four minutes left but on the second play after the touchdown, Appleton came up with its points on a 58 yard pass from Dick Miller to Cliff Tierney, a hookup that was successful only because Preble's deep defenders, Dick Van Roy and Jim Krumpus, collided and knocked each other down leaping for the ball. That put another light on the game but when Scott Ferguson's kick went wide to the right, it virtually cinched the verdict for Preble.

It might have been an entirely different affair, though. Only the fantastic Hornet defense and a quick whistle by one of the officials set up the stunning second half fireworks.

Inside of 30
Of 48 plays run off by the two teams in the first half, excluding punts, 30 of them originated inside Preble's 30 yard line and all but six somewhere in Preble territory. That's an indication of the frustration that plagued the Hornets in the first half. It was their own inability to move the ball, aided by five penalties and five fumbles, that caused the misery.

Appleton had first down on the Preble 8-yard line twice and on

KHS Hands Shawano 14-6 Defeat

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
KIMBERLY — The Kimberly offense broke its scoring drought here Friday night with two touchdowns, one less than this season than the defense, for a 14-6 Mid-East win over the Shawano Indians.

But the defense played a key role in the victory, putting up tough goal line stands and halting the Indians marches in critical situations. The offense scored the first time it took over the ball, a 51-yard screen pass from Wayne Liethen to Bob Kaufman doing the trick early in the first period. Jeff Erbrecht split the uprights on his first of two conversion attempts.

The Papermakers opened the game kicking off to Shawano and the Indians Bill Gipp returned the boot 22 yards to his own 45-yard stripe. Jeff Waukau ran for 10 after an unsuccessful pass and two plays later the invaders moved to the 30 after a 15-yard penalty on the hosts.

Alert Defense

Jeff Waukau ran for five and Gipp added five to move deeper into Kimberly territory. Three running plays moved the ball to the 13-yard stripe when the alert defensive unit halted the thrust. Mark Ristau picked off a Orman Waukau aerial on the 3-yard line, but fumbled and an alert Dick Van Daalwyk scooped up the loose ball and scampered to the Kimberly 29 before being run out of bounds.

Wayne Swokowski ran for three and Kaufman added nine as the Papermakers began a march of their own. Swokowski added 14 yards in two carries. Kaufman ran for five and Swokowski ran for another 10, but his effort was of no avail as a mate was detected holding. After an incomplete pass, Lie-then tossed the TD aerial, just eight plays after Kimberly had gained possession.

The Indians again started a march following the kickoff and racked up four first downs before the Kimberly defensive unit stiffened and smeared Orman Waukau for an 8-yard loss attempting to pass and took over on its own 31-yard line. Kimberly was unable to pick up the yardage for a first down and on an attempted punt, the kick was blocked and Bernie Warrington recovered for the Indians on the Kimberly 15-yard stripe.

Might Be Reversed

The Papermakers utilized three blocked punts to win their first two games and it appeared the trend might be reversed. Jeff Waukau ran for one and then added seven to the Kimberly 7-yard line. He then was thrown for a 1-yard loss and with fourth and three, he was a yard short with Kimberly taking over on its own five.

After picking up one first down, Kimberly fumbled and

ST. There's a new look around painted walls. Several offices of Kimberly-Clark Corporation's have been panelled and painted. Atlas Mill in Appleton that improves both operating efficiencies and the physical appearance of some areas.

New Approach Approved for Public Housing

Private Builder to Sell Development to Kaukauna Authority

KAUKAUNA — The Housing Authority voted to engage the "turnkey" method of public housing for the 70-unit housing development for elderly being planned at a cost of about $1 million.

Under the "turnkey" approach to public housing, a private developer builds and sells a housing development to the local housing authority at a fixed price. The local housing authority approves the site and plans before construction is begun and works closely with the private developer during the building period.

Utilization of private companies to building public projects cuts down government red tape and the time needed to construct the building. In many cases, the conventional approach has taken as long as four years from idea to occupancy.

Support

There is both congressional and presidential support of the "turnkey" approach. President Johnson recently said the federal government should use the "turnkey" concept because of the enormous cost reductions and, equally important, the great reduction in time of building.

Public Facilities Associates, Inc., Madison, has been selected to perform the "turnkey" operation for the federally-financed housing project. The firm, which began eight months ago, has contracts for similar projects in 14 Wisconsin cities, including low-rise and high-rise units and garden-type apartments as well as private development projects.

President of the firm is David Carley, former vice president of Marshall Erdman and Associates, Inc., national builders of medical clinics and school buildings. From 1959 to 1962 he was director of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development. He serves now as a consultant to the U.S. Department of State and Department of Interior and is a guest lecturer at the University of Wisconsin and other schools.

First Project

Public Facilities is currently building the first "turnkey" project in Wisconsin, a $2 million project at Madison expected to be completed in about a year.

Prior to making the decision to retain the firm, the local Housing Authority spent several months interviewing prospective architectural firms and private developers. Final decision was based on the savings of time and money under the "turnkey" approach.

Earlier this year the Housing Authority adopted a housing code, acceptable to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which can be used by cities throughout the valley interested in applying for federal funding on similar housing projects.

Fund Drive Likely for Ambulance

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee of the common council is attempting to set up a meeting next week to discuss a proposed fund drive for a new city ambulance.

The deputy health officer has been contacting various clubs and organizations trying to find a group to head up the drive. Representatives of those willing to work toward the goal will be asked to appear at the meeting.

The decision to hold a fund drive for the emergency vehicle came after questionnaires were sent to physicians and industries in the city attempting to ascertain whether they felt the city should continue ambulance service and whether they would be willing to contribute toward the purchase of a new vehicle.

The vast majority returning questionnaires favored keeping the service in the city with operation in the hands of the fire department. The old vehicle is over 15-years-old and a goal of between $8,000 and $10,000 has been tentatively given as a price for a new machine.

Details on the fund drive will be worked out by the group heading the campaign after the council committee approves the plan.

Volunteers Find Mill Fire Out on Arrival

COMBINED LOCKS — Volunteer firemen were called about 5 a.m. Thursday to the Combined Paper Mills when a generator box overheated in the grinder room.

Mill fire personnel had the problem under control before firemen arrived.

Little Chute Stores Switch Night Store Hours to Thursday

LITTLE CHUTE — Effective Oct. 5, stores will remain open Thursday night, rather than Friday night. The change followed a vote Wednesday by the retail committee of the Businessmen's Association.

Results of the new shopping night will be studied for several months and discussed again at future meetings. Several reasons were given for the change:

Most of the social activities are scheduled on Friday nights and there often are conflicts with school athletic and club activities, area industrial plants have pay day on Thursday and the majority of food stores run Thursday specials, both of which help attract shoppers.

There was discussion on changing hours at a May 16 meeting, but action had been postponed pending results of a similar program by Neenah-Menasha. Favorable results from those communities and the likelihood of Kimberly and Kaukauna going to the Thursday hours were given as contributing factors in approving the change.

Mobile Health Unit to Set Up Oct. 4 to 13

KAUKAUNA — The State Board of Health mobile unit will be located at the Veterans of Foreign Wars parking lot Oct. 4 through 13, according to Mrs. Mary Yingling, city nurse.

Persons over 20 may be checked for blood pressure, diabetes and have free chest x-rays during the stay. A schedule of hours for the unit will be announced later.

State Court Denies Writ of Habeas Corpus

Kaukauna Man for Third Time Loses Petition for Freedom

The State Supreme Court has, for the third time, denied a writ of habeas corpus to a 27-year-old petitioner to the court, cited 122 detailed allegations of error.

Karl Farrell was convicted of indecent behavior with a minor when he pleaded no contest in Outagamie County Court Nov. 15, 1962. Judge Gustave J. Keller, in finding Farrell guilty, ordered the State Department of Public Welfare to administer a presentence social, physical, and mental examination.

Upon examination, the state agency concluded that Farrell was in need of specialized treatment, and pursuant to recommendation, was committed to the sex deviate center at the state prison.

Had Counsel

Farrell had been arrested by Kaukauna police who said the offense occurred in that city Oct. 1, 1962. Farrell was represented by legal counsel during his court appearances.

In September 1963, Farrell petitioned the State Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus alleging that the partial indeterminate sentence provisions and the extension of sentence on a finding that discharge would be dangerous to the public, were in violation of his constitutional rights. The claim was denied.

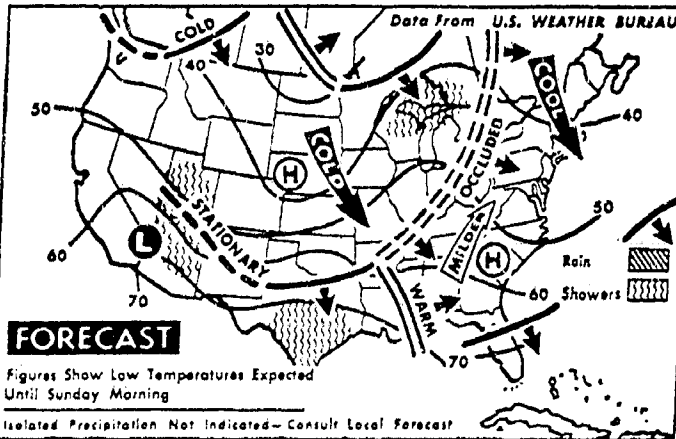

His second petition for habeas corpus on March 12, 1964, also was denied. In that petition, he alleged he was inadequately represented by counsel, was denied a transcript of court proceedings, and was denied the opportunity to demonstrate that he had no conscious self control over his conduct.

Deny Writ

Farrell's petition for a writ of certiorari to the United States Supreme Court was denied Jan. 18, 1965.

In the third petition for habeas corpus, denied this week, Farrell, in an 89-page document, cited 122 detailed allegations of error.

The high court condensed the 122 allegations into four general claims: That Farrell was deprived due process because of defects in the institution of proceedings and because of inadequate representation of

Wilderness Dedication

'Lady Bird' Bestows Tribute on Sylvania

Post-Crescent News Service

WATERSMEET, Mich. — A charming lady came Friday to bestow gracious tribute on a beauteous gem of pristine wilderness.

It was dedication day for Sylvania. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, the country's foremost advocate of natural beauty, was present to star in the rites. It was a day to be remembered.

With the ceremony, the 18,000-acre Sylvania Recreation Area became official in the public domain. Its unique assets of forest and water were marked for lasting preservation and for all the people to enjoy.

"Magnificent" "What a magnificent part of the world this is," the President's wife exclaimed to the woodland assemblage.

Sylvania was made part of the Ottawa National Forest by government outlay of $5.7 million a year ago. It lies just west of Watersmeet and north of the Wisconsin border in the Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Johnson was accompanied on the flight to Ironwood and then the motor cavalcade to Sylvania by Agriculture Sec. Orville L. Freeman and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, wife of the vice president.

Freeman was master of ceremonies as evidenced by such things as waiver of preliminary hearing; that his conviction week, winners of these and the rested solely on hearsay evidence was involuntary, and that certain provisions of state statute which pertain to sentence are unconstitutional.

Trial Set for Youth Charged in Appleton Mishap

Trial was set Oct. 2 for a 27-year-old Appleton motorist who allegedly left the scene of an accident Wednesday night in which a youth was injured.

Douglas J. Pfunder, 501 W. Winnebago St., pleaded innocent Friday of hit and run. Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set bond at $100.

County police allege Pfunder was driving a 1956 auto that was involved in a side-swipe collision about 10:50 p.m. Wednesday with a car driven by Raymond F. Weyenberg, 17, 210 N. Elm St., Kimberly. The accident occurred in the 2800 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue (State 96).

Nicholas Gonnering III, 18, 1706 S. Mohawk Dr., Appleton, a passenger in the Weyenberg auto, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with severe head lacerations.

Police said both cars were westbound on State 96. The Weyenberg auto, which sustained about $1,000 damage, crashed into a utility pole and the Pfunder auto reportedly was found a short time later on Wisconsin Avenue.

Council Unit to Air VFW Picnic, New Ambulance

KAUKAUNA — The health and recreation committee of the common council will meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday to view new ambulances, discuss the Veterans of Foreign Wars picnic parking and interview applicants for the park department.

Calumet Coroner Asks Higher Budget for 1968

Hughes Cites Rising Fees, Autopsy Costs As Principal Reason for Request to Board

CHILTON — Calumet County Coroner LeRoy Hughes gave three reasons this week for requesting a higher operating budget for his office in 1968.

Hughes appeared before the Calumet County Board to give his report on deaths investigated by his office in 1966. The total — 50 deaths — was the most he has investigated during his tenure in office.

Hughes requested a higher operating budget because, he said, coroners fees have been raised, jurors fees have risen from $8 to $12 per day and the cost of autopsies has been raised to where a specialist now gets $125 for an autopsy.

Worked 50 Days

The coroner reported that he worked a total of 50 days, traveled 2,498 miles and spent $48.40 on telephone expenses during 1966.

Included in the 50 deaths investigated by Hughes in 1966 were eight traffic fatalities, four suicides, two drownings, one from a falling tree, one from a fall at home and one as a result of a fire.

Four drivers in the eight traffic fatalities were tested for alcoholic content in the blood. The blood alcohol content ranged from 1.13 to .25 per cent. The legal limit is .15 per cent.

There were two passenger fatalities, Hughes said, with one showing a blood alcohol content of .17.

Boy Killed

Two motorcycle fatalities were also reported in 1966, neither of which showed positive blood alcohol content. A 12-year-old boy involved in a bicycle accident accounted for the remaining fatality.

Testing for blood alcohol content is done at State Motor Vehicle Department expense and Hughes is one of 17 coroners cited by the state for cooperation with the department in making their study.

The coroner has worked 26 days, traveled 1,528 miles and spent $26.88 on telephone calls thus far this year.

Joseph M. De Noble, De Noble Agency, 514 E. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, has been selected as the first "Realtor of the Year" from the Appleton Board of Realtors, according to board president Ted Moder.

De Noble, 49, a member of the Appleton Board of Realtors since 1955, entered the real estate business in 1951 as a salesman for his brother, Chet. He later became a partner. When his brother retired last year, Joseph bought out the agency.

A long-time native of Appleton, De Noble and his wife, Dorothy, have 6 children. The De Nobles live at 625 E. Greenfield Ave.

De Noble has long been active in civic and church affairs. He is a member of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, the Northside Advancement Association, the Appleton Elks Club, Knight of Columbus and American Legion. He was appointed Consultant to the St. Theresa Catholic Parish Church Board for his work on the new athletic committee.

He was Appleton Realtor Board president in 1961. He also has served as director to the Wisconsin Realtors Association from the local board for the past 6 years.

De Noble was instrumental in organizing Multiple Listing Service of Fox Valley, Inc., a service of the Realtor Board.

He is also a charter member of Property Investment Corporation, having served two terms as president.

The real estate board's judges chose De Noble on the basis of his contributions to the betterment of community life and his conduct of business reflecting the Code of Ethics of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The Realtor of the Year contest is sponsored by the Wisconsin Realtors Association and most of the real estate boards in the state which are affiliated with the state association. The contest is a two-year term as president of the Shawano County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Others elected were Mrs. Fred Stelter, Eland, 1st vice president; Mrs. John Fleischman, Borduel, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Carl Ellefson, Wittenberg, chaplain, and Mrs. Howard Bohman, Birmamwood, historian. All are two-year terms.

Hosts were the Bloecher-Johnson Legion Post and Auxiliary. The National Convention at Boston, held in August, was reviewed by Mrs. Charles Engel, Shawano. Mrs. George Natzke, Shawano, gave a child welfare committee report.

Extra Point Wins for Kiel

Chilton Tigers Hold Raiders to 14 Yards, But Kick Blocked

KIEL — Ever see a football team gain only 14 yards for an entire game and still win?

The Raiders did just that here Friday night, edging the Chilton Tigers 7-6, even though the Tigers allowed the Raiders only 14 yards rushing and passing.

The lone Kiel score came in the third quarter when Randy Fries intercepted a pass and dashed 25 yards into the end zone. Don Huber booted the decisive extra point.

Chilton, meanwhile, gained a total of 195 yards but could not reach the double stripe once. That score came in the first period on a 14-yard pass from Nick Schneider to Ron Hillmann. The attempted extra point was partially blocked.

Both Eastern Wisconsin teams are now 2-1.

Fire Siren Could Kill Youngster

The siren makes sudden, loud noises. Mayor David Ernst, siding with the boy, Thomas Roselli, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Roselli, has suggested that the fire siren be moved 400 or 500 feet.

Firmen have objected to the mayor's suggestion and a spokesman for the fire fighters say they'll strike if the siren is moved. The firemen claim they wouldn't be able to hear the siren if it is moved from its present location.

Attempts to Obtain County Money for Avenue Fizzle

Appleton Members Among Foes On Outagamie County Board

BY BILL KNUTSON Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An anticipated attempt to get $50,000 of county money for helping Appleton pay for downtown College Avenue reconstruction did not develop Thursday afternoon.

Supervisors, by a 32-10 vote, denied Appleton's request for $100,000 toward the recently-completed $1 million project.

However, indications were following the voting, that Appleton Highway Department, told Supervisor Eugene Kloes might, in a resolution after noon recess calling for a $50,000 aid for the College Avenue job, allotment which would go specifically toward tax relief for gramming through the Bureau property owners assessed for of Public Roads.

The matter never got back onto the board floor. Although Kloes did not comment openly, he told a Post-Crescent reporter after Thursday's meeting that he "polled" supervisors over the noon hour and "couldn't muster more than 15 votes."

Kloes said he supposed the aid request was "dead" as far as the board is concerned "unless pressure is brought on the executive committee to bring was at a highway committee meeting last December at which time a commitment was made to city officials. Supv. Ervin Conratt of rural Shiocton, highway committee chairman, denied that any commitment had been made, although he admitted there had been some discussion with city officials as to the possibility of determining if money might be available.

Conratt said that minutes to the December 1966 meeting, which Schreiter was referring, were in error. Pandora's Box Schreiter and Kloes maintained that the county had a "moral obligation" to aid the city in the avenue financing.

"You're opening up a Pandora's box if you give the city even $1," Conratt charged. "You would not have the nerve or the intestinal fortitude to turn down any other municipality's request for 50 cents if you pass this," Conratt told supervisors.

Wolves Intercept 5 Passes

Manawa Notches 13-0 Victory Over Marion

MANAWA — Manawa, featuring an alert pass defense and nifty running by fullback Tom Griffin, boosted its 1967 record to 26 more and added five yards to 3-1 Friday night with a 13-0 conquest of Marion.

The Wolves picked off five misfired Marion aerials and used two of them to set up touchdowns as coach Ken Biesel's crew evened its Central Wisconsin Conference record at 1-1.

After a scoreless first period, Manawa's John Hoffman intercepted a pass on Marion's 40 yard line. The Wolves then marched to the Mustang six from where halfback Bob Paschel went over on an off-tackle smash Quarterback Doug Langman ran for the point after to give Manawa a 7-0 halftime edge.

In the fourth period, Griffin broke loose on a 56-yard jaunt to the Marion 20, put the Wolves in scoring position again but the Mustang defense stiffened and took over on downs on its own 2-yard line.

Minutes later, Paschel intercepted on the Marion 30 and the Wolves turned the steal into a touchdown. Griffin covering the last five yards to make it 13-0.

Alliance Wants Towns to Use New Valuations

State legislation is required to have towns attached to public school districts pay their fair share of budget and new school construction costs, the Alliance of Cities contended here Thursday.

The Alliance endorsed in principle a proposal that the current year's equalized valuation total of towns be used in computing their share of school costs.

City Atty. David Geenen of Appleton introduced the proposal, contending that because the valuation figure of the towns are usually a year behind, it costs the Appleton public school district about $300,000.

Current Totals

Geenen explained that the city's equalized valuations totals are current. However, because those of the towns are not available, previous year's totals have to be used in arriving at what share of the annual budget and building costs are to be paid by the city and towns in the district.

"We raise the point because some towns are growing much more rapidly in tax base than the central city," Geenen explained, citing some "tax islands" surrounding Appleton as examples.

Representatives of other cities indicated they were in the same boat and thought Geenen's proposal to get the current valuation of towns for school tax levying purposes a sound one.

On Record

The Alliance went on record that towns be placed on the same payment basis, eliminating the existing time lag.

Assemblyman Harold Froehlich (R-Appleton) said it would require state legislation to correct the situation, but indicated a solution might not be as easy as would appear.

However, he reportedly is working on a bill that would enable school district tax levies to be assessed against towns on the basis of the current year's equalized valuation.

The largest town in the school district here is Grand Chute which had a $4 million increase in its equalized valuation announced this week. However, when it comes to assessing the town its share of public school district operational cost in a few months when the 1968 budget is up for adoption, last year's valuation figure will be used.

Froehlich Argues Policy

Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R - Appleton, appeared before members of the Alliance of Cities here Thursday and challenged them to "come up with the answers to provide cities with more state monies."

Froehlich's appearance during the afternoon session at the Conway Hotel added spice to the conference attended by representatives of 15 of Wisconsin's more populated cities, including Appleton, Neenah and Menasha.

The Alliance had recommended passage by the state legislature of several bills, including shared-tax distribution formula revisions, when Mayor Otto Festge of Madison, the group's president, asked Froehlich to address the gathering of city officials.

"We in state government also have problems," Froehlich declared, and proceeded to give his position in blunt terms.

"Wisconsin state government sends more money back to local municipalities than any other state in the nation," Froehlich said. At the same time he pointed out that Wisconsin had the second highest income tax but that local real estate taxes (levied by municipalities) ranked sixteenth.

"You gentlemen sit here and tell us you want more money for your cities but at the same time you don't tell us where we can get it," Froehlich asserted.

"I think you have the responsibility to do so," he advised.

Froehlich was also critical of the Alliance for wanting to have the legislature adopt a statewide open housing law, claiming such issues should be settled on the local level.

His position on the fair housing was opposite that of a majority of the mayors and council presidents in attendance, and in direct conflict to strong recommendations made earlier in the day by Mayor

Festge. Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee and the Fox Valley Council on Human Rights Council.

Questions Action

"Fair housing is not a state matter," Froehlich said. "I would prefer it be handled on the local level."

Several mayors had said they received legal opinions from their respective city attorneys that the state had already pre-empted the field when it came to fair housing by previously adopting a law.

The open housing recommended by the Alliance would do away with all exemptions in the existing state law, giving Wisconsin a uniform law governing all communities.

"As you can see, I just don't have any kind words for you today," Froehlich added with a grin.

The Alliance thanked him for attending and noted that Froehlich did favor some of its proposals.

Appleton Bid To Buy County Land Rejected

Hoolihan Casts Only Dissenting Supervisor Vote

Almost without discussion and with only one dissenting vote, Outagamie County supervisors Thursday afternoon approved a report by the county board's executive committee which, at a special meeting, voted unanimously to turn down an attempt by Appleton to purchase 35 acres of land at the old airport.

The only dissenting vote was cast by Supv. Arthur Hoolihan of Appleton, who also is an alderman.

City officials, at a meeting last month, agreed to seek options on the old airport land, at $2,700 per acre. The land, owned by the county, is on Appleton's far northeast side. City officials took the action after learning from the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce that a new industry, which was not identified, wanted to build on the old airport site.

Letter From Broehm

Request for the option was contained in a letter to county officials from Appleton City Clerk Elden Broehm.

The only discussion on the matter came when Board Chairman Sylvester Esler was asked why the executive committee turned down the request.

"Because we just didn't want to sell the 35 acres," Esler replied.

Esler asked for a roll call vote, although only a voice vote is necessary when taking action on adopting or rejecting committee reports which do not deal with spending money.

Cities Step Up Drive for Law on Annexation Reform

Members Exchange Political Punches With Harold Froehlich On Sources of Needed Money

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Political punches were exchanged here Thursday as the Alliance of Cities stepped up its drive for annexation law reform and a bigger cut of state-shared taxes.

Alliance members and Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, engaged in pointed debate after the Republican spokesman charged the Alliance owed it to the state legislature to tell where additional monies would come from. "What taxes would you have the state impose to raise the millions of dollars which would be required under terms of your proposed bills?" Froehlich asked the group of 35 city officials from around the state.

Mayor Otto Festge, Madison, Alliance president who described himself as "a nonpartisan Democrat," declared that everyone was asking the property tax to do too much.

Blames Legislature

Festge said the property tax is reaching the saturation point in Wisconsin cities and charged that part of the blame could be laid to the legislature's reluctance to do anything about eliminating "town tax islands."

The state is not distributing the money on a fair basis to those communities with high property tax rates, according to Festge, who cited that towns around central cities were deriving large payments from the state and "don't even have property taxes in some instances."

Festge said it was a myth that towns were able to be financially independent because of efficient government. "It's because they are making money on the present tax distribution formulas of the state," Festge declared.

He felt the cities should not pass any additional tax measures but said the state could, on a statewide basis.

Festge opined that the state's present income tax system was the fairest way to pay.

However, he emphasized while cities only had the personal property tax to raise revenue, the state had a variety of sources at its disposal, including the sales tax.

At one point Froehlich inquired if the cities would want an expanded sales tax, along with so-called "piggyback" tax legislation.

Asks Return

Festge replied that such taxes should be passed by and collected by the state — the latter returning piggyback taxes directly to the municipalities. He said the state already had the collection setup.

He took the position that if the state made additional local taxes optional, those communities needing the money most would be taking it from those with the least ability to pay.

"Without making it statewide you still would have town tax islands attracting industries and stealing them from the central cities," Festge declared.

Dr. Howard Mauthe, a Fond du Lac city councilman, injected at one point that Wisconsin should do away with the income tax. He said Illinois did not have one and as a result Wisconsin was being put at a disadvantage when it came to attracting industry.

"I would like to have some of Mr. Froehlich's problems," observed Mayor John Kannenberg, Wausau.

Kannenberg went on to relate a recent incident in which one of his area state legislators said in a speech that the reason the state could hold the line this year and not increase taxes was because "the economy is so good that sales tax and income tax revenues are increasing at a rapid rate."

Envious State

"I just wish we were in that position to have the money flowing in from various tax sources like the state," Kannenberg added.

"The only alternative we have on the city level is to raise the property tax for the services required by our people," Kannenberg continued.

"Maybe we (the cities) should get more skim off the sales tax," he declared.

One of the Alliance-backed bills in the legislature does call for an increase in the amount of funds returned to municipalities from the state's sales tax.

Shepard Magidson, a fiscal expert for the City of Milwaukee, said it was incumbent on the state to change its shared-tax formulas. "As they now stand, it is ridiculous," Magidson said.

Revise Bills

He said if the tax distribution formula was revised by the state, it might show that other bills calling for further property tax relief might not be required. And, Ralph Breitung, a member of the Fond du Lac council, said cities might require less state aids in the long run if the legislature would deal with the annexation problem.

More Witnesses Today

Psychiatrist Testifies McBrair Mentally Ill

BARABOO (AP)—The prosecution scheduled more witnesses for today after putting ten on the stand Friday in attempts to prove that James McBrair was sane when he shot his wife and three other persons to death last March 5 near Wautoma.

The defense rested its case Friday after Dr. Albert Lorenz, head of the Northwest Psychiatric Clinic at Eau Claire, testified that McBrair was insane.

"I felt he was incapacitated by mental illness until he could not use his judgment to conform to law," Lorenz said.

The prosecution said it would introduce expert witnesses of its own.

McBrair was convicted Monday of murdering his wife, her step-sister, step-father and a 14-year-old baby sitter in a cabin near Wautoma. He pleaded in-pollution will result from the construction of a water transmission line from Lake Winnebago or from an expansion of the Appleton water treatment plant.

The Northeastern Wisconsin Planning Commission report to federal officials, signed by William E. Morris, executive director, and Gerald L. Paul, chief hydrologist, reflected extensive research by the commission into the overall water program.

The commission recommended that while Lake Winnebago represented the logical source at this time to help solve Appleton's water problem — the ultimate source and planning toward such should be Lake Michigan.

Summing up its position, the commission said:

—The only feasible immediate-to-long range program for orderly growth should begin with the source at Lake Winnebago, including an expansion of the present treatment plant, and then focus all ultimate plans toward Lake Michigan.

—The length of service of the Appleton project should be set at approximately 40 to 50 years to coincide with future expansion needs of other Fox Valley communities.

—No evident reduction of local

Regional Planners Approve Appleton's Water Project

Notification Received in Letter From HUD Area Administrator

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission gave its approval Wednesday to Appleton's Lake Winnebago pipeline project and plan to construct an addition to the water plant.

It came in a letter sent to Edward Bruder, Chicago, assistant regional administrator for the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The commission's action, coupled with previous approval of the Appleton water package by state agencies and the Fox Valley Council of Governments, enhances the city's chances of obtaining further federal aid.

Review Underway

It has been estimated the pipeline and plant addition projects will cost over $4 million. Last month HUD authorized the city a grant of $793,000 for pipeline and said a review was underway on the application for funding to help defray cost of the plant expansion.

HUD officials said before Appleton could receive additional aid, it would have to be documented by state and regional planning groups that the city's plant project was in

Youth Faces Charges From Fatal Accident

Outagamie County police said this morning that an 18-year-old rural Black Creek youth would be charged this afternoon with the failure to yield the right of way at open intersection in connection with a two-car accident Aug. 24 that killed Miss Sandra Kasten, 20, route 2, Black Creek.

The charge against Steven M. Rettler, route 2, follows a coroner's inquest Thursday afternoon.

Miss Kasten died instantly when her car, traveling west on Ott Road, collided with Rettler's, moving north on 12 Corners Road. County police reported that the uncontrolled intersection was about three miles southeast of Black Creek.

At the inquest, Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer questioned four witnesses. There was no jury.

Faster Than Normal

Testimony from 13-year-old Robert Vegoe and William Bay-er, route 2, Black Creek alleged that Rettler was "traveling faster than normal" for 12 Corners Road. Beyer, whose testimony was read by Kemps and which had been taken by the coroner Sept. 14, estimated Rettler's speed at about 70 m.p.h.

Witness Alvin M. Holz, route 2, Black Creek, who had been traveling "four or five hundred yards" behind Miss Kasten on Ott Road the afternoon of the fatal crash, estimated that he had been moving about 45 to 50 m.p.h. He stated that Miss Kasten had stayed about the same distance ahead of him while traveling the road.

Orville Crane, an Outagamie County traffic patrolman, testified there were no skid marks at the scene, apparently indicating that the drivers did not see other prior to impact.

Rettler, who could remember "nothing" about the accident, said that he had left work for his home about 5 p.m. Aug. 24. He was working on a construction project on the north side of Appleton. The accident occurred at 5:40 p.m.

$26,000 Fire Destroys Truck

Highway Vehicle Crew Escapes Injury Near Mackville

Fire that broke out when a hose broke on a hydraulic pump destroyed a large Wisconsin State Highway Department sign truck Friday afternoon. Damage was estimated at $26,000.

None of the truck's crew was injured, according to Outagamie County police. The truck, which was equipped with a digger, was being used for sign installation work along State 47, a mile north of Mackville, when the fire broke out about 3:15 p.m. Police said the truck was being operated by James L. Zwick, 24, 826 Kellogg St., Green Bay.

Police were told that when the pump hose broke, hydraulic fluid spilled onto the truck's hot exhaust pipe. The fuel tank "exploded" when flames enveloped the large truck. Highway department employees tried unsuccessfully to put out the flames with two extinguishers. The Town of Center Fire Department was at the scene.

Driver Who Stole Truck, Hit Barn, Gets 20 Days

In court with his head swathed in bandages, Edwin P. Kazik, 24, $1,500.

Kazik, suffered cuts to his face, head, and arms when the Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller on two charges brought culvert about 1 a.m. Sept. 15 on after he allegedly stole a dump County Trunk C, a mile south of truck which he later crashed Seymour. County police alleged early the morning of Sept. 15 that the same truck also damaged a milk house on the Adolph Henn farm on Ranch Road, near State 54 and struck a mailbox owned by Wilbur Daelke, who lives near Henn.

Patrolman George VanCuijk was revoked. Judge Keller also of the county police told the court, during testimony on the traffic charge Friday, that several witnesses saw Kazik driving the 1962 truck.

Kazik, who told the court he has been unemployed since July, was released from Appleton Memorial Hospital Friday afternoon. He had been in the hospital since the morning of the felony case to 2 p.m. accident.
